The Pay of Judges.

Congress should not neglect at this session the question of decent pay for federal judges. All of the judges in the national service are underpaid. For justices of the supreme bench and all through the federal judicial service, the shamefully inadequate pay is a disgrace to the richest nation in the world.

It is impossible, of course, for the judges to make any campaign on their own behalf, but the country that depends on them for justice and protection should pay them at least enough to live decently.

Lieut. Col. Foulois, commanding air forces at Mitchell Field, says there should be a great "terminal" for airships in the east, located on the Newark meadows, west of Jersey City, close to New York, connected with New York by subways.

The idea is sound, including the suggestion of an elevated landing field. Connected with it there could be arranged, at minimum expense, a water landing for the navy's hydro-aeroplanes, thoroughly sheltered. This plan had previously been discussed by Dwight Morrow, head of the president's air committee.

Newark, Jersey City, Hoboken, Elizabeth, Elizabethport and New York city are destined to be one great city with 40,000,000 of people, equaling in population England or France. An adequate air terminal, in the center of that future city, should be bought and built by the government now, for postoffice and commercial flying in peace, the other thing in war. There wouldn't be any war, if we had the right commercial fleet.

That's why President Coolidge constantly urges the development of commercial aviation.

Similar great combination landing fields for hydroaeroplanes and other airplanes should be established in the principal cities of the nation—Chicago, Boston, San Francisco, Seattle, Los Angeles, New Orleans, Galveston, etc.

Corn prices are low, "hogs are high." This puzzles farmers and packers. Corn and hog prices should go up and down together, since the pig is really corn changed into meat. There is always something to puzzle and distress the farmer. He has no sufficient national organization, and after election day he hasn't much influence in government, compared with railroads and other big financial units.

At the midday luncheon club in New York you can see eating at the same time those that control then thousand millions of dollars. Farmers are scattered all over the land, and if you could get them together there wouldn't be any hall that could hold them.

Our British brothers have, also,

CREATE PLACE OF CITY HALL AND MUNICIPAL COURT JANITOR

Emergency Ordinance Adopted by Unanimous Vote.

MAYOR WILL SIGN

Accept County Offer to Grade North Dresden Avenue.

Office of turnkey at the city jail, held by William A. Cline, was abolished by an emergency ordinance, adopted unanimously upon three readings under suspension of the rules by council last night.

The measure, which becomes effective immediately upon the signature of Mayor Ralph C. Benedum provides for the repeal of ordinance No. 1968, passed a year ago, which created the job at a salary of $120 per month, placed the appointee under civil service and gave him all police powers.

Authorize Janitor Appointment.

Mayor Benedum is expected to sign the legislation within the next few days, witholding his signature pending the appointment of a janitor for the city building.

The solons also enacted an ordinance upon three readings, fixing $120 a month as the salary of the janitor for the city hall, municipal court and city water works office. Councilman Hayes and Farrall opposed a proposed $100 salary, asserting that a married man could not support a family on this amount. The solons then voted to make the janitor's pay the same as now received by the turnkey. Of this amount, $75 will be paid by the water works department and the remaining $45 from the service department fund.

A resolution directing and authorizing the Service-Safety department to employ a janitor to care for and keep in clean condition city hall, municipal court rooms and water works office was also approved.

Designate Court Depository.

Another resolution, designating the First National bank as the depository

Kampher, it is reported, was filling a carbide light when the explosion occurred. Officials of the company are not certain as to the cause, inasmuch as no other plant employes were in the vicinity at the time.

Kampher, who is a clay loader, was brought to the City hospital. He was attended by Dr. T. S. McCulloch of Wellsville.

Plant equipment was not damaged.

HOW MUCH COAL DO YOU WASTE?

In heating your house you may be throwing away money with every shovelful of coal.

The heating plants of thousands of homes are wasteful, for one reason or another.

It may be that no matter how much fuel you burn, your house is not satisfactorily warmed. The trouble should be located and corrected.

The trouble with your heating plant may be due to the selection of a furnace of the wrong type or size, to faulty installation, poor operation, or to ill-fitting doors and windows.

You may secure a free government publication on the subject which is certain to be of great aid to you if you are having furnace trouble of any kind. CHATEAU FRONTENAC, FAMOUS HOTEL IN QUEBEC, IS SWEPT BY FLAMES

Three Hundred Guests Flee as Short Circuit Causes Fire—Five Firemen and Spectator Injured.

QUEBEC, Jan. 15.—Chateau Frontenac, one of the most famous hotels on the North American continent, was a sorry sight today.

Fire during the night had swept the old wing off Dufferin Terrace—high above the St. Lawrence river—and smoke and water damaged the newer section. Damage was estimated at $2,000,000.

Three hundred guests had escaped from the chateau, but one man, a commercial traveler, was overcome by smoke.

A short circuit, caused by the blowing out of a fuse in the old tower, is believed to have caused the fire.

The Quebec fire brigade, which was on the scene within a few minutes after the fire was discovered, did yeoman service. A special train, carrying Montreal fire fighters, reached here shortly after midnight, but the Quebec firemen had the flames under control.

Old Tower Collapses.

Five firemen and a spectator were injured.

Two hours after the fire was discovered the old tower fell with the sound of artillery fire.

Meanwhile, the hotel guests, with the exception of the commercial trav-

Bandit Gets $6,000

DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 15.—A lone masked bandit who five weeks ago held up a branch of the Detroit Savings bank and escaped with $5,000, returned today and repeated the robbery, getting $6,000.

Edward R. Weineke, manager, and two women clerks recognized him as the same man, they told police.

38 ENTOMBED WEST VIRGINIA COAL MINERS BELIEVED DEAD

Black Damp and Fire Lessen Chances of Rescue.

BLAST MYSTERY

Fifteen Men Escape From Farmington Disaster.

GREENSBURG, Pa., Jan. 15.—Seven bodies of miners have been recovered from the Jamison Coal and Coke company mine at Farmington, West Virginia, where an explosion is said to have entombed 33, according to advices received here today at the headquarters of the coal company.

Nine more miners were known to have been working in the entry from which the bodies were recovered, according to reports received here. Hope is held out that 24 miners working in an entry about two miles from the one where the bodies were found, will be rescued alive, it was stated.

George B. Taylor, general manager of the Jamison Coal and Coke company, and Edward Cowan, chief engineer, left here early today for the scene of the explosion. Company headquarters has not been advised of the cause of the explosion.

FARMINGTON, W. Va., Jan. 15.—Gas masks, rushed here from Barracksville, Fairmont and nearby towns, were donned by rescue crews early today in a second attempt to penetrate the smoke and gas filled chambers of the Jamison Coal & Coke company's mine No. 8, where between 35 and 60 miners were entombed by an explosion.

Leaders of the rescue crews believe all of the entombed miners have perished because of the dreaded black damp and the fact the fire is raging in the mine.

Frank R. Jamison, of the Jamison Coal and Coke company, expressed the belief shortly after 8 o'clock this morning that the number of miners entombed would be found to be 38.

Origin of Explosion Unknown.

Both company officials and a party of 15 miners who escaped from the mine following the explosion were unable to account for the origin of the blast. The mine was one of the most modern equipped shafts in northern West Virginia, it was said, and every precaution was taken to safeguard the lives of the miners.

Wilburton Buries Its Dead.

WILBURTON, Okla., Jan. 15.—Wilburton and the surrounding coal towns of the Oklahoma coal field were burying their dead today while state officials prepared for the formal investigation into the cause of the death of 91 miners in the Degnan-McConnell Mine No. 21, wrecked Wednesday by an explosion.

Final funeral arrangements will be made during the day and a single funeral for those victims who have no immediate family is being considered.

MRS. LAURA E. CHRISTY TELLS POLICE SHE GAVE POISON 'FOR MEDICINE'

Bride of Nine Days Confesses, According to Chief McDermott, That She Complied With Evangelist's Request for Three Doses of Arsenic While he Was Suffering From Indigestion.

STOMACH, HEART AND BLOOD SHIPPED TO STATE CHEMIST FOR ANALYZATION

Relatives of Rev. William Christy Claim Body, Which Will be Taken to Akron for Burial, While Woman is Committed to Jail Pending Grand Jury Investigation of Case.

After confessing, police say, that she gave her husband, Rev. William E. Christy, 56, mission and slum worker, three doses of arsenic "because he wanted it" to relieve indigestion, Mrs. Laura Elsie Christy, 48, his bride of nine days, was held for grand jury action without bond on a first degree murder charge, filed by Chief of Police Hugh McDermott, when arraigned before Municipal Judge Jesse C. Hanley late yesterday afternoon.

The alleged confession was made by Mrs. Christy in the presence of Prosecuting Attorney Robert M. Brookes, Chief McDermott, Captain Mason Conley, Deputy Sheriff Lawrence Kindsvatter and a group of other officials in the mayor's office at the city hall. The woman denied that she had administered the poison to kill the pastor.

Coroner Dr. J. M. Van Fossan, East Palestine, assisted by Dr. Albert J. Michaels, who attended Mr. Christy at the City hospital, where he died Wednesday evening, and Health Commissioner Dr. John A. Fraser conducted a postmortem examination of the body at the Miller funeral home late yesterday afternoon. Mr. Christy's stomach, heart, and a sample of his blood were shipped to the state chemist at Ohio State university, Columbus, for analyzation, last night.

Mrs. George Smith, a daughter, and her husband, of Akron, arrived here last evening to claim the body. Mrs. Smith was notified by her step-mother Wednesday evening of her father's death, but knew nothing of the alleged poisoning until she arrived here. The body was to be shipped to Akron for burial on the 4:25 p. m. train.

Police Question Prisoner.

Chief McDermott, Captain Conley, D. K. Leyda, Wellsville railroad detective, and a newspaper man searched the two-room house, occupied by Chrisy and his bride near the No. 1 plant of the Homer Laughlin China company in East End, yesterday afternoon, but found no trace of the box containing the poison which the accused woman testified she had purchased last Saturday for rat poison.

Mrs. Christy's alleged admission that she gave poison to her husband, police said, was first made early yesterday afternoon, when Captain Conley and Detective Leyda resumed their questioning of the woman at the city hall, while Coroner Van Fossan was conducting a postmortem examination of Christy's body.

Throughout Thursday morning the woman steadfastly denied any connection with her husband's death, asserting that she had given him baking powder when he complained of pains in his stomach.

At first the woman, police declared, said she had given the arsenic by mistake. She said her husband has asked her to get a box from the cupboard which he claimed was a prescription given by a physician. She said she picked up the wrong box which she later discovered was arsenic. Upon further questioning, police charge, she admitted she knew it was poison, but administered it only because Mr. Christy requested it, stating that he had taken it in small doses on previous occasions and that it had relieved his pain.

Three Doses of Arsenic.

According to police statements, Mrs. Christy at first declared she gave her pastor husband only two doses of the poison, one at about 5 o'clock Tuesday evening and the other at 10 o'clock that night. Later she admitted they said, having administered the first dose upon his return from town at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning complaining of being ill. She stated that the poison was taken on the end of a knife with a glass of water in each case.

She denied having mixed the poison

THREE STREETS FOR COASTING

Mayor Benedum Urges Motorists to be Careful.

Mayor Ralph C. Benedum today designated three streets for coasting purposes and requested automobile owners to refrain from using these thoroughfares after 4 p. m. if possible.

The streets are: Ravine, from Thompson avenue to Bradshaw avenue; Minerva, from Avondale to Walnut, and Market, from Third to the C. & P. railroad crossing.

Police will not attempt to rope off streets for coasters, but urge motorists to drive slowly and exercise precautions against accident while traveling streets where children are sled-riding. Police will prefer charge of reckless driving against drivers who speed along streets where children are coasting, it was warned.

EVANGELIST FORMAN LINCICOME TURNS HIS GUNS ON MODERN ROUND DANCE AND CARD PLAYING

The modern dance was termed the "most potent factor for evil at the present time" and "a moral graveyard for girls" by Rev. Forman Lincicome, Gary, Ind., evangelist, in his sermon dealing with "The Unpardonable Sin" at the Oakland Free Methodist church last night.

"The position taken in the modern round dancing would not be tolerated any other place except the dance hall," the evangelist declared. "I contend that what is ethically wrong off the dance floor is ethically wrong on the dance hall. A little motion and music cannot change the moral principal.

"If I were a church member and bound to dance I would leave the church. I could be referred to as an ex-church member, who was divorced from Christ so that I could dance with the devil.

"Some one is saying, 'Yes, but didn't David dance?' Yes, he did dance, but have you noticed how he danced? He danced by himself unto the Lord. Did you ever dance by yourself? If you did you found it a mighty lonesome job. You didn't dance by yourself unto the Lord. You danced with another man's wife unto the devil.

"Some one says, 'You are not talking about my dance.' Well, there are just two kinds of dancing—one is the slum dance and the other is the society dance. There is just one difference between the slum dance and the society dance and that is in the slums they wear more clothes than those worn by society dancers.

"All you need to do to doom the dance is to separate the sex—make men dance with men and women with women. Can you imagine Bill Jones hugging Henry Smith by a little music? No, Bill and Henry might make it across the floor once and Bill would say, 'Henry, this is too tame.' Announce a dance for men only at the hall tomorrow night and there'll be no one there but the janitor.

"You only have to make husbands dance with their wives and you have doomed it. A man might dance once around with his wife, then his corns would be hurting him or else he would have a headache. Men do not dance for the sake of hugging their own wives. Some men would just as soon hug a barrel of sour pickles as to hug their own wife.

"It does not take any brains to dance—that is why they have it as an amusement in the asylums for the feeble-minded. The more barbaric and uncivilized the people are the more they dance and the further down the social scale they go."

The evangelist also scored gambling.

"The gambler has many tools but the deck of cards is one that is used the most. It is a human fact that at least 70 per cent of

Property in Mexico

Mexico seems determined to safeguard her natural resources. The law in that country provides that at least 51 per cent of the stock in mining enterprises must be held by Mexican citizens.

A good many American business men think it is intolerable impudence for the Mexicans to insist on control of their own resources and industries. Especially such a vital industry as oil, which Americans need, and whose production and distribution they understand so well. In the good old days, it was usually Americans who controlled the mines and oil wells. Otherwise it was likely to be the British, French and Dutch.

The days of foreign exploitation in Mexico are evidently over. And what are American capitalists going to do about it? Their indignation, some of which is justifiable, doesn't accomplish much. They have a right to object to confiscation of property honestly acquired by them, and a right to object to retroactive laws against them. But Mexico has a right to make her own laws and own her own property, as long as she does not take foreign property, legitimately acquired, without giving compensation for it

It is just as well to remember, whenever such a dispute arises that our own country and people, generally speaking, have got a great deal out of Mexico in territory and wealth, since 1848, and have paid very little for it.

More Oil Per Well

There is probably more oil in the ground than ever was pumped. This may be true of the "exhausted" oil fields, without regard to new productive areas. The practice has been to take what oil came up through a drilled hole, raised by the pressure of expansive gases, and to reinforce that pressure by pumping in the later stages, then quitting. This procedure, oil experts now say, often gives no more than one-third of the oil in the pool below.

How can the rest be obtained? Engineers have been working hard on that problem lately. Various suggestions have been made, usually involving the application of artificial pressure to the oil-bearing sand under its rock cover, so as to make the oil flow up again through the bores. Henry L. Doherty, engineer and industrialist, has submitted to the president's oil board a discovery by which he says the oil flow may be greatly increased.

Obviously, obtaining twice the usual amount of petroleum per well would amount to doubling the available supply in producing fields and untapped fields, and bring in a vast, unexpected treasure from old ones. Twenty million automobile users will await the revelation with interest.

Cheaper Gas

Cheaper fuel for automobiles is predicted as a result of improved methods of pumping petroleum, greatly increasing the amount obtained from wells. It is believed that in many fields the total production may be doubled. Doubling the raw material supply would double the manufactured products, of which gasoline is most important.

Supposing this is true, do we want cheaper petroleum fuel? The question is not so foolish as it may sound. The cheaper crude oil, fuel oil, kerosene and gasoline becomes, the quicker the available supply will be gone. Present users will waste the stuff, and new uses and users will develop, quickly taking up the slack of increased production. It may be a short life and a merry one for the oil industry if prices go much lower. They are pretty low now, in this country, when the energy, convenience and all-round value of this wonderful fuel are considered.

Double potential production, by all means. But instead of doubling rapidity of production and thereby hastening exhaustion of the oil fields, it might be better to keep prices around their present level by controlling production and making the stuff last longer.

Actorless Drama

Mussolini is not the only startling personality in Italy. Enrico Prampolini, Italian futurist, who won the grand theatrical prize for something or other at the Paris International Expositino of Decorative Arts, has a little advance dope on the theater of the future.

"The actor," says Prampolini, "is a useless element in theatrical action. The new theater will present, instead of a story acted by human beings, a dramatic arrangement of forces—architectural and scenic—in which time and space will be the dynamic elements."

Well, time and space admittedly have their dramatic phases, but it hardly seems necessary to pay box-office prices to watch them do their stuff on the stage when they can be observed and studied all about us all the time free of charge.

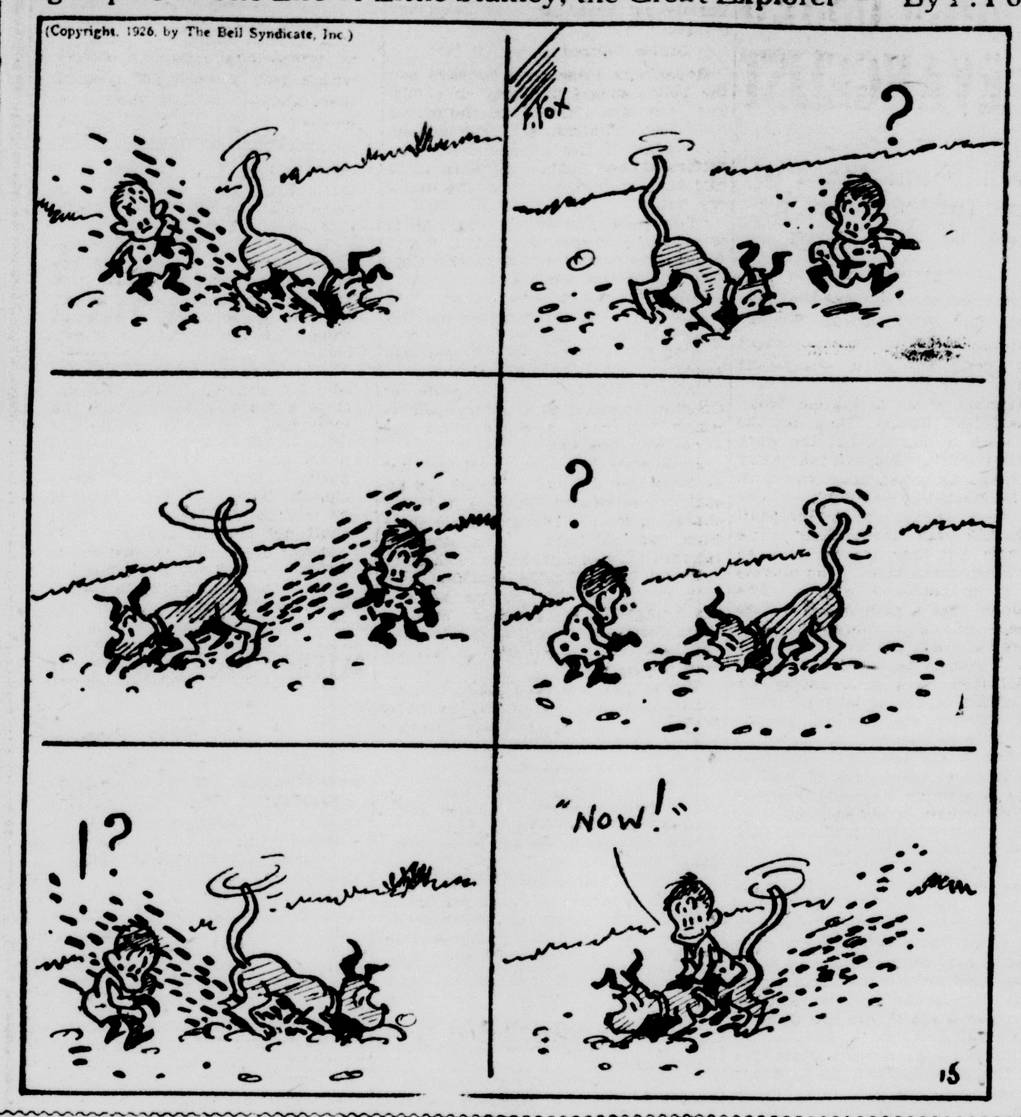
It begins to look like competitive disarmament.

Peace comes not so much because men object to war, as because they object to war taxes.

So far this year, Thrift is nearly everybody's middle name.

In this thrifty age, we may get around yet to reconditioned chewing gum.

High Spots in The Life of Little Stanley, the Great Explorer— By F. Fox



NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—Thoughts while strolling: Why is it a fellow with a nickname is usually lovable? That doesn't include yeggs. Clara Tice, the artist. The lingerie shop of a Russian princess. DeWolf Hopper's son Jack—vice president of a bank.

A window with baby clothes always draws a crowd. Why a lock on a jewel case? The newsstand girl at the Biltmore with a touch of Mona Lisa in her smile. A one-legged service man reading a free-for-all contest poster in front of a Charleston palace.

Sigmund Romberg, the composer, Lindy's, where actors wise-crack and eat. One of Eddie Foy's children Forget which. German restaurant sign: "Anyway we have the steins." A cage of frightened raccoons on an express wagon. Never mind, you'll be overcoats by-an-by. And be checked at the Mirador.

Broadway glitter. Mascara lids. Heavy perfumes. Sables and chinchilla. Slim legs and sheer stockings. Coquetry and intrigue. Men with dip hats and curled back gloves. The constant parade—going nowhere. But going in a hurry.

All the Broadway entertainers now have "gangs." Wonder if Rin-tin-tin ever saw himself on the screen? The invariable crowd drawn to excavations. The giant searchlights for night workers. The caped movie house starters. A woman wearing a Davy Crockett fur cap.

Levy, the little haberdasher clerk, who knows all the celebrities. A lone customer in a big restaurant — a woman. The sidewalk perfume spray near the Palace. The worried looking men on Forty-seventh street who study racing forms. And chew ends of cigars.

Always a midget promenading in Times Square. The White Way now given over to chop suey, waffles and buttermilk. A chain drug store window filled with crutches and wheel chairs. Probably for victims of the "Charleston horse." We'll wait for the laugh. Thanks for the slight titter.

A well known New York gambler who goes to Europe frequently is said to carry a woman's wig and has gay ribbons run through the neck of his nightgown. He takes no chances in case of a disastrous storm.

It is said one thousand jazz musicians are employed for the cafes and supper clubs nightly in the Lobster Belt. This does not include the movie and theatrical orchestras. Many of them may be seen around 5:30 snatching a quick bite in hurry-up lunch rooms before going to work. Their big meal is at midnight.

The musicians as a general thing do not move out of their own circle. I am told the majority live in the Bronx and are married. Every musician—like most newspapermen— is going to embark in some other business but rarely does. He grows gray in service and for this reason a movement is being started to have a comfortable home endowed for musicians such as is provided for aged and infirm actors.

It has often been a desire to satisfy my curiosity regarding xylophoning as a career. Quite a number of xylophonists are featured in Broadway orchestras. Where does one go for instructions in the art? How much time is required for proficiency? Is it taught by mail? Do xylophone gadgets wear out and does one carry a reserve supply like fiddle strings? There is much mystery about xylophoning that should be cleared up.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

The Original Dr. Cook.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 15.—The United States Noval Obsevatory's expedition to Sumatra to observe the solar eclipse recalls a similar expedition sent out by Great Britain in 1769, one of the earliest official naval expeditions of the kind.

Astronomers calculated that the transit of Venus over the sun's disk would occur in 1769, and the Royal Society was interested in having this phenomenon observed. It was judged that the best place for the observation would be in some part of the South Sea, either at the Marquesas or at one of the Friendly Islands. Other nations besides England were interested, and for that reason she was anxious to make haste and obtain the best possible point of vantage.

Alexander Dalrymple, an eminent member of the Royal Society, and one who possessed accurate knowledge of astronomy and had distinguished himself by inquiries into the geography of the Southern Oceans, was selected to head the expedition. He realized, however, that it would be impossible to carry out such an enterprise without having sufficient authority to maintain discipline among the crew. He, therefore, refused to undertake the assignment until he was given a brevet commission as captain of the vessel.

Sir Edward Hawke, who was at that time head of the British Admiralty, was staunch in his opinion that such a commission could not be granted to one who had not been trained as a seaman. He could not be moved from this position by any amount of argument or persuasion, and as Mr. Dalrymple was equally adamant in his contention that he would not make the trip without the commission, they dead-locked.

Another Leader Chosen.

Finally, James Cook, who had served in the royal navy and who had made a considerable study of mathematics and astronominal navigation, was suggested. He was heartily endorsed by his former commanding officer and accordingly was appointed to take command of the expedition, with the rank of lieutenant in the royal navy. His commission was dater May 25, 1768, and a ship was finally selected and called the Endeavor. It was decided that Port Royal Harbour on the island of Otaheite was an excellent place for making the observation and on July 26, 1768, the party set sail with this point as their objective.

After a while it was found necessary to stop some place for supplies, and Cook, feeling sure of a friendly reception at Rio de Janeiro, made for this port. He found, somewhat to his consternation, however, that the viceroy was inclined to be a little haughty or upstage. He appeared to be little interested in science or in this particular expedition.

The party stayed there for a short time, though, and obtained the supplies which could not be refused them. Finally they again started on their journey, but to their amazement when they came abreast of Santa Cruz two shots were fired at them. Cook immediately sent to ascertain what it was all about and was informed by the officers in charge that they had received no authority from the viceroy to permit them to leave the harbor. The viceroy, upon being questioned, said that the order had been written several days before but had not been transmitted through some "unaccountable negligence."

This matter being more or less satisfactorily adjusted the explorers proceeded on their journey and eventually landed at Port Royal Bay, as planned. Before making a landing, Cook drafted a set of rules for all dealings with the natives. It was realized that the friendship of the natives was of importance. Certain members of the party were to be appointed to conduct all trading transactions with them, and under no circumstances was any trading to be done by anyone else.

The natives proved to be friendly and watched with interest the landing and preparation for constructing a fort. One incident on the first day, however, came near to marring this friendliness. Cook had ordered that a tent be pitched, and while he and some of the rest of the party set out upon an excursion into the nearby woods a guard of 13 marines was left with a petty officer in charge.

One Indian, who was perhaps a little more curious, watched his chance and snatched a sentry's musket. The officer in charge immediately ordered the marines to fire. They accordingly opened fire upon the hundred or more Indians. Fortunately the culprit was the only one injured.

Upon hearing the firing Cook hastily returned and upon learning what the trouble was, reprimanded the officer for his order. The natives were placated and things again moved along smoothly.

A Bad Butcher.

All during the stay of the party on this island Cook was meticulously careful that the Indians should realize that at all times the white visitors were anxious to be fair. An interesting incident occurred which showed the natives, unlike so many in the South Sea Islands, were not only friendly but actually tender-hearted. The ship's butcher had undertaken to make a trade with one of the native women, even though this was strictly

BAXTER BILL IS PASSED BY LOWER HOUSE

Ohio Representatives Approve Measure, 97 to 18.

SHORT SESSION

Leaders Predict No Additional Legislative Action.

COLUMBUS, Jan. 15.—In less than 30 minutes after the Baxter bill, affording relief for financially distressed taxing units in Ohio was sent to the senate by the house, the upper branch of the Ohio legislature in special one-day session passed the bill by a vote of 27 to 6.

COLUMBUS, Jan. 15.—By a vote of 97 to 18 the lower house of the Ohio general assembly today passed the Baxter bill providing for relief of financially distressed taxing units throughout the state.

The vote on the emergency clause was 99 to 10.

Representative Gordon did not vote, because of his prejudice toward the special one-day session.

It was revealed the voting was of a non-partisan nature. A few Republicans voting against the bill and the Democrats splitting their votes both for and against.

The house then messaged the gill to the senate and recessed until 2 p. m.

Speaker Taft called the house to order again at 11:18 at which time the house taxation committee's report recommending passage of the Baxter bill was presented.

On motion of Representative Dempsey, chairman of the committee, the house suspended the rule requiring that bills be read on three separate days, and immediately took the bill for third reading on the question of passage.

their worries. The year just closed is the worst for trade in Britain's modern history, the balance being almost two billions of dollars against the British. Forty-five million additional pounds of imports, a loss of thirty-three million pounds of exports, make the British unhappy. But they "muddle" through in the British way, and will come out on top.

Uncle Sam is riding along on velvet. Severe competition abroad in the world's markets at home is said to be ahead for our producers. But everything, including Providence seems to be with us now.

In real estate, conditions throughout the country are astounding. Frederick Brown, of New York, perhaps the biggest real estate operator in the world, was called reckless two or three years ago when he said:

"Real estate values in big cities are more in the air than on the ground, henceforth a 12-story building in New York must be considered a 'taxpayer,' waiting to be torn down to make way for a real building."

Now they tear down 17 and 19-story hotels to make room for 40 and 50-story buildings. When you buy the ground and the air above it, the air is more valuable than the land.

for the clerk of the municipal court, was also adopted.

The solons also gave their approval to a resolution authorizing the service-safety director to accept the proposal of the county commissioners to use a steam shovel to grade and widen north Dresden avenue to the city limits. This street is part of the Youngstown-East Liverpool inter-county highway which will be improved during the coming year.

Councilman Farrall declared he was opposed to increasing city expenses unless he knew where the money was coming from. He claimed that there was a deficit in the street maintenance fund owing to improvements made last sumer, and these bills must be paid from the automobile license and gas tax funds.

J. W. Moore, who assumes the office of Service-Safety director tomorrow, told the solons that money to meet these bills would be available early in February from funds received through license fees.

Shortage in Funds Looms.

Councilman Hayes urged the Dresden avenue improvement, declaring this to be "the opportunity of our life." Solon Herrington said that the street was "one of the most miserable thoroughfares in the state" and that it was "a disgrace." He asked that the offer of the county commissioners to furnish a steam shovel to do the grading if the city would furnish men and teams to move the dirt would mean a saving of about $6,500 for the city. Councilman Poole also expressed approval of the plan.

Upon roll call the ordinance was passed unanimously.

Auditor William McGraw, speaking for the finance committee, warned council that there would be a shortage in both the safety and service funds in 1926. He said that the appropriation for the safety fund this year was $32,378 as compared to $39,883.78 available last year, a difference of more than $7,500. In 1925, $32,552.21 was received from the service fund, while but $27,472 will be available this year, or, in other words, a shortage of $5,000.

Change Meeting Nights

Elwyn Shenkel, asked for a hose reel and fire hose for Pleasant Heights. He said that residents would be able to keep fires under control pending the arrival of the downtown companies if the equipment were furnished. Council promised to consider the suggestion in their next appropriation.

Upon motion of Councilman Farrall council changed their meeting night from the second and fourth Thursdays of each month to the first and third Thursdays.

The solons referred the claim of R. G. Boyd for a reduction in street assessments on a lot in St. George street to the solicitor for investigation. Action upon the claim will be taken to at the next meeting of the legislators.

The bill is a surprise musical act, and was enthusiastically received at the opening of the three-day engagement.

SIN DISCUSSED BY EVANGELIST

"Saved From the Pit," Topic of Sermon by Rev. W. A. Knapp.

"Saved From the Pit," was the topic on which Rev. W. A. Knapp, Westerville evangelist, spoke Thursday night in the First Methodist Protestant Church.

"Conviction of sin is a great blessing," said Rev. Knapp. "It is not the devil's work to convict, but the work of the Holy Spirit. God will take away peace from the saved man who sins. Doubt is injected by the Devil.

"Sin has always been rampant. Church folk talk about their 'little white sins' but they are as black as the devil can make them. The disease of sin is in the blood of man. The fact, alone, that a man murders does not make him a murderer—he is a murderer at heart and has been. The nature of man is depraved and totally so. All men have gone astray because of the cancer of inherent wickedness. Unless sin is cured by the blood of Christ, we will go down to Hell. Sin is the most hideous thing in the universe. God created Hell as a place into which He could pour the putrid rottenness of sin and cap it up forever. Hell was not made for man and if one should go there, he will suffer remorse throughout eternity because he neglected to receive God's salvation. God will take us out of the pit of corruption and deliver us. The love of God reaches every case, no matter how deep that sin of yours may be. God loves every sinner, even the one guilty of the blackest sin. His love will save you if you submit yourself to Him."

During the song service which preceded the sermon, Prof. R. E. Kauffman sang one of his own compositions, "Jesus Will Satisfy You." Misses Ruth Brookes and Freda McConnell sang, "I'm a Pilgrim."

Tomorrow evening's program will be in charge of the children of the church, under the direction of Prof. Kauffman.

Widow Held For Murder

with pancakes and coffee for Christy's breakfast.

"I have now told you everything; do whatever you want with me,' the woman said between sobs.

Mrs. Christy was remanded to jail and Prosecuting Attorney Brookes notified of the alleged confession.

The police then went to the Christy home in East End to search for the poison which Mrs. Christy said she had left on the table. She explained, however, that the box may have been knocked on the floor and burned with papers which she had gathered up before she left the place Wednesday morning after her husband was taken to the hospital.

Police confiscated a trunk of clothes and other personal effects, belonging to Mr. Christy, which they brought to city hall.

When Prosecutor Brookes arrived at the city hall, the accused was again questioned in the presence of a stenographer. Police say she repeated the story given them earlier in the afternoon.

Married Five Times.

The woman admitted that she had been married four times and lived five years with a "common law husband" before she married Christy, police asserted.

Her first husband, according to story given the police, was Jesse Sears, whom she married at the age of 18 years. She was unable to say how long she had lived with him, but declared he had died from natural causes. Her next husband was George Holt, also of East Liverpool, who also died a natural death, she said. Mrs. Christy, police charge, then admitted she lived with another man whose name she furnished, now deceased, for five years but said they were never legally married.

Mrs. Christy, according to the police, next went to Athens, N. Y., where she married Frederick Harmon. After living with him four years, she discovered that he was her cousin and then she left him. In another statement, she is purported to have said she left Harmon because of trouble with his children by a former marriage.

She then came back to East Liverpool where she married John Ebert, who died in Newell, Nov. 7, last. Ebert, according to Dr. C. R. Campbell, Chester, who attended him, contracted a congestion of the chest and mumps. Dr. Campbell called on him three or four times and he apparently recovered. Two days later the physician learned that his patient had died. Ebert's body was buried in Locust Hill cemetery, near Chester, on Nov. 9, 1925.

Withdrew $200 From Bank.

Prosecutor Brookes questioned Mrs. Christy about $200 in cash which she is alleged to have withdrawn from an East End banking institution on Wednesday morning after her husband was taken to the hospital.

The woman is alleged to have declared that her husband had turned the money over to her following their marriage and that she had purchased a new trunk for $15, a traveling bag for $1, silverware for $10, clothes and shoes costing about $50, a bracelet costing $3.50, a necklace, and also some dresses and other clothing for children of Mrs. George Crawford, Erie street, East End, who, she claimed, is her cousin. She had less than $30 in her purse, but was unable to account for nearly $100 of the money which she had drawn from the bank.

Christy had $400 on deposit when he came here recently from Akron. Of this money he, himself, spent $100, she said. She withdrew another $200, leaving $100 on deposit.

According to statements the woman is alleged to have made to the police, she met Christy at the Crawford home on the evening of Monday, January 4. That same evening he proposed marriage, she said, and they were married in Beaver, Pa., on the following day, January 5. Since their marriage the couple had been living in a two-room house, near Laughlin pottery, which Christy purchased early in December for $50.

Denies Poisoning Newell Man

Repeatedly Prosecutor Brookes and the police sought to wring an admission from Mrs. Christy that the poison had been administered without the knowledge of her husband, but she reiterated her denials. "I gave it to him because he asked me," she would cry out.

"You gave it to him telling him it was baking powder and that it would relieve the pain in his stomach," Captain Conley told her.

"No, no, I didn't" she replied. "He made me give it to him to get me into trouble, I think," she said.

"Did you kill Mr. Ebert?" she was asked.

"No, I didn't. Dr. Campbell, of Chester, attended him. The medicine which had been prescribed did not agree with him and he died."

Prosecutor Brookes questioned her as to where she had obtained the arsenic. She replied that she had purchased it from a Diamond drug store from "an old man." The druggist referred to, was summoned to the city hall and Mrs. Christy identified him.

"I never saw this woman before," the druggist said. I haven't sold arsenic during the last two months and I am positive I never sold it to this woman at any time."

The woman was then taken into another room and questioned by Chief McDermott and Prosecutor Brookes behind closed doors.

Pleads Not Guilty.

Mrs. Christy was then taken to the municipal courtroom, where Judge Hanley read the murder charge.

"Are you giulty or not guilty?" the judge asked.

"I don't know what to say," she said. "I was never in trouble before. I didn't mean to poison my husband."

"You can plead not guilty and let the grand jury investigate your case," she was told.

"Well, I guess that will be all right," she replied.

She was immediately taken to Lisbon by Deputy Sheriff Lawrence Kindsvatter.

Find Certificate of Ordination.

In Mr. Christy's personal effects, yesterday, police found a suitcase filled with song books and other literature, issued by the United States Missionary Workers of the United States of America. The national officers of the organization shown on the letter head, are: Carl W. Christy, son of the victim, general-in-chief; Rev. William Christy, the alleged poison victim, brigadier-general, and A. M. Christy, another son, a resident of Akron, national treasurer. Names of two other Akron people are also given on the letter heads. National headquarters are at 151 Cutler Place, Park Way, East Akron.

In his trunk were also found articles of incorporation issued by the secretary of state to the Christian Assembly Missionary association, 237 Bauer building, Akron, on November 30, 1921. Mr. Christy was one of the five incorporators. Another certificate issued by the United Christian Missionary Workers, showing Mr. Christy to have been ordained an elder on November 22, 1922, was also found. There were many photographs of children, believed to be grandchildren of the deceased.

Unless a special session of the grand jury is called, Mrs. Christy's case will not be investigated until the April term of court.

Believe Woman Mentally Unbalanced.

Mr. Christy is said to have two sons and two daughters. The two daughters nad one of the sons reside in Akron. The other son, Carl W. Christy, is said to have lived with his father here, but left Saturday for St. Louis, Mo., where he was to take charge of the Missouri headquarters of the United Christian Missionary Workers of the United States of America.

Police immediately telegraphed him today, advising of his father's death.

Police declare that the woman was preparing to leave for Cleveland Thursday morning. She admitted yesterday that she had planned to go to Cleveland after her husband's funeral.

The authorities today expressed the opinion that Mrs. Christy is mentally unbalanced.

The newer part of the hotel was filled with smoke, but the flames were kept from this section. Icy streams of water poured forth from the building.

all professional gamblers started with a deck of cards and most of them started right in their own homes. If any of you church members have a Bible and a deck of cards both in your homes, don't let both of them stay under the same roof over night. Put one or the other out.

"A deck of cards is the recognized tool of the gambler and has the odor of gambler's hell on it and can't be made decent though shuffled by the hands of the best church members in East Liverpool.

"The unpardonable sin is not adultery, although it is a great sin. It is a four-fold sin against the individual, the family, society and God. If America goes to the devil, it will go there over the sin of impurity. Over the door of every church, home and school should be written the five words, 'Thou shalt not commit adultery.' No one can break this commandment and escape hell and it applies to a millionaire as much as it applies to a hobo."

against the rules laid down by the leader of the expedition. Not having much luck in his trade he threatened the woman. Cook, hearing of this, had the man brought before the tribe and after holding an informal trial which showed no doubt of the butcher's guilt, sentenced him to be tied to a tree and lashed. At the first lash the natives protested and begged that the punishment not be continued. When, in the interest of justice, their pleas were disregarded many wept in sympathy for the suffering of the wretch.

The party received a slight scare and for a little while it seemed that perhaps the trip was to be fruitless. This was when it was discovered one morning that the astronomical quadrant had been taken from the tent where it had been stored. It was finally found, however, and one June 3, the sun rose without a cloud so that the observation of the transit of Venus over the sun's disk was made successfully.

Although this observation was the main object of the expedition a great deal more of importance was accomplished. Six months of the return trip were spent in charting the coast of New Zealand, which had not been visited by Europeans for more than a century. The eastern coast of Australia was examined and named New South Wales, and the entire separation of Australia from New Guinea was determined.

Cook returned to England in 1771 where the great importance of his geographic work on this voyage was instantly recognized. He was promoted to the rank of commander and appointed to organize a new expedition for the discovery of the imaginary Terre Australis Incognita.

against the rules laid down by the leader of the expedition. Not having much luck in his trade he threatened the woman. Cook, hearing of this, had the man brought before the tribe and after holding an informal trial which showed no doubt of the butcher's guilt, sentenced him to be tied to a tree and lashed. At the first lash the natives protested and begged that the punishment not be continued. When, in the interest of justice, their pleas were disregarded many wept in sympathy for the suffering of the wretch.

The party received a slight scare and for a little while it seemed that perhaps the trip was to be fruitless. This was when it was discovered one morning that the astronomical quadrant had been taken from the tent where it had been stored. It was finally found, however, and one June 3, the sun rose without a cloud so that the observation of the transit of Venus over the sun's disk was made successfully.

Although this observation was the main object of the expedition a great deal more of importance was accomplished. Six months of the return trip were spent in charting the coast of New Zealand, which had not been visited by Europeans for more than a century. The eastern coast of Australia was examined and named New South Wales, and the entire separation of Australia from New Guinea was determined.

Cook returned to England in 1771 where the great importance of his geographic work on this voyage was instantly recognized. He was promoted to the rank of commander and appointed to organize a new expedition for the discovery of the imaginary Terre Australis Incognita.

Harbingers of Spring! Tho zero will be the rule for sometime to come, nothing will retard Dame Fashion's progress.

These first messangers of Spring and balmy air really migrated to us from the Southland, for they are replicas of dresses that madamoiselle now wears at Palm Beach and Miami — and the Riviera! And the price is but a fraction of those worn in the south — only $10!

Among other things you'll note the dominance of the long sleeve, high collar, smart flares and the straight silhouette.

Lovely and very smart in their newness. Come in tomorrow to see them!

"BIBLE" TOPIC OF EVANGELIST

Rev. E. D. Murch Speaker at Christian Church.

Evangelist E. D. Murch, of East Palestine, who is conducting revival services in the First Christian church here, last night addressed a large congregation on the theme, "The Bible; Is It Mere Literature or Is It the Inspired Word of God?"

Interest is increasing daily in the services, which were launched recently.

Rev. Murch cited many incidents recorded in the scriptures wherein, had the record been the work of man, it would have differed greatly, "man protecting the character of those who were his friends and those whom he loved, while God, through his inspired writers, holds up to the world all the faults and imperfections of his chosen leaders as well as their good and rightous acts, delineating in full the character of those chosen to work out the plan of salvation.

"The Bible needs no defense," declared Rev. Murch. "It is written in a language all can understand and if in the study of any portion of it four points of it are borne in mind, it will become self interpreting. The points are: Who is speaking? To whom is it spoken? For what purpose it is spoken? Under what dispensation is it spoken?

Rev. Murch's subject tonight will be, "An Example of Living Faith."

His Saturday night topic will be "The Grace of Giving and the Grace of Receiving."

ERMON GIVEN ON "BAPTISM"

Rev. B. R. Johnson Speaks at Christian Church Services

Rev. B. R. Johnson, pastor of the First Church of Christ, spoke last night in the Pennsylvania Avenue Church of Christ. His subject was "The Meaning of Baptism."

He spoke in part as follows: "The Disciples have been accused of being "water salvationists." We recognize no authority but that of Christ. Jesus commanded baptism. Scholars of all religious bodies recognize that immersion was the original form practiced by Jesus and the early church.

The pope changed the form from immersion to sprinkling in the year 1311. The college of bishops of the Episcopal church changed the form for that church early in the 17th century. When the vote was taken there were 24 for immersion and 24 for sprinkling. Dr. Lightfoot, presiding chairman, cast the deciding vote for sprinkling. The Disciples respect only the authority of Christ.'

This evening Rev. Johnson will have as his subject "The Final Judgment." Prof. Green of Bethany college will preach Sunday morning. At the afternoon services Rev. Johnson will speak on "A Woman's Fall." This meeting will be for women only. The final sermon of the series will be given Sunday evening on the subject, "The Origin of Protestantism."

Six-Club City Industrial Baseball Circuit Is Re-Organized

Hall China Awarded Franchise Vacated By Babcock-Wilcox

Priority Rights of China Makers Recognized by League in Action on Berth Held Last Season by East Enders; C. C. Cline, 1925 President of Loop, Presides at Harmonious Session.

WITH representatives of five clubs present, foundation plans for reorganization of the City Industrial Baseball league were laid at a conference of league officials and team managers last night in the chamber of commerce rooms in the Little building.

Four important decisions were reached by the session.

1. The circuit, in all probability, will consist of six clubs, the same number of teams that gave the East Liverpool, Chester, Newell and Wellsville district a successful season last year.

2. Hall China was awarded the franchise and players of the Babcock & Wilcox club, of East End.

3. All players who performed in the circuit last season will be the property of the teams with which they finished the campaign.

4. Any changes that may be necessary in team personnel must be made by regularly approved trades and deals between clubs.

Only one of the clubs of the 1925 campaign was not represented. Manager John Fowler, of Trotters, who, however, is expected to produce a formidable entry as he did last season, was unable to attend the conference.

Mayor Frank Riley, of Chester, represented the 1925 league champions; Joseph Dickey and Sol McCoy handled affairs of the Newell Laughlin team; Jack Bowers was Knowles, Taylor and Knowles' delegate; O. O. Pearch filled Wellsville's entry, and Dave Buzzard and George Wucherer submitted Hall China's request for a berth in the Ceramic City organization.

C. C. Cline, who, as president of the circuit in 1925, was a big factor in producing one of the most successful East Liverpool district leagues in years, presided as temporary chairman, with T. T. Jones, the league statistican, as secretary.

Harmony was the keynote of the meeting. League managers and officials indicated a desire to keep from stepping on the other fellows' toes.

Under the skillful direction of presiding officers, affairs of the inaugural conference were guided safely over the preliminary stages although the meet developed a brisk bidding for the franchise vacated by Babcock & Wilcox.

Vincent McGeehan, who last year piloted the East End combine, announced the action of the brick makers in retiring from the circuit.

Dave Buzzard and George Wucherer, of Hall China, and Joe Dickey, of Newell, went after the berth, with the teapot makers' representatives landing the plum Dickey intended to place a Laughlin club in the East End sector and if he had landed the franchise would undoubtedly be able to put a first class crew in the field there.

Priority rights, however, proved the deciding factor. League officials recalled that representatives of the Hall China plant had entered a request for the first vacant franchise in the league, at the banquet and meeting which wound up the 1925 season. They ruled, therefore, that Buzzard and Wucherer should be given prior consideration and the league voted to this effect. Mr. Buzzard, the father of Raymond, former local player who is now the property of the Cleveland Indians, promised to make rival clubs step for the 1926 pennant.

With the franchise went the players and all property of the Babcock & Wilcox aggregation.

Comparative merits of six and eight-club circuits were discussed, the general opinion being that the league as it was last year could hardly be improved upon, in the matter of enlargement, at least, because of the fact that practically every baseball player of sufficient talent to qualify for the brand of ball dished up by the organization is a member of the loop now.

In order to form an eight-club circuit, it would be necessary to import players, and the consensus of opinion was that, in the scramble that probably would follow, one of the chief objects of the league would be lost sight of. To as great an extent as possible, the league attempts to foster district athletics and use home players, except in cases where it is impossible to obtain the caliber of performer sought, and these are not many.

Recognizing the fact that readjustments will naturally be sought by various clubs before the start of the season, as a result of the removal of employes from one plant to another during the off-season, the league will be ready to make provisions for trades and deals. It is not the plan of the organization to encourage promiscuous transfers, but it will aid in shifting about players where the occasion demands. These changes probably will not be sanctioned until after the definite formation of the circuit, inasmuch as players are still the property of the club with which they finished last fall.

The organization got off to a flying start at last night's conference, clearing away a number of important matters at an early stage, and leaving the way open for a mature consideration of financial problems.

The league will hold its next conference on Thursday night, Jan. 21, in the chamber of commerce rooms.

ST. STEPHENS STOPS M. E. FIVE

Downtown Passers Win After Great Finish.

A whirlwind finish sent the Penna. Ave. M. E. tossers down to defeat before the onslaught of the St. Stephens five in a Sunday school circuit clash on the St. Stephens floor last night. The score was 27 to 18.

The game, during the earlier periods, was a slow listless affair, the first quarter ending with the score 2 to 1 in the East End lads' favor, McKim caging a basket, and Barnhart making good on a free toss.

In the second period the game looked more like a basketball battle and the St. Stephens lads were in the lead by the score of 7 to 6 at the end of the first half.

Both teams continued to struggle diligently in the third quarter, and the score fluctuated throughout the period, the St. Stephens passers leading by a 13 to 12 count at the finish.

H. Rose was the first to score in the final quarter, making good on a toss, tying up the score. Pollock caged a basket, putting the St. Stephens lads in the lead. The lead changed hands again when H. Rose tossed one in on a foul line shot and Staley heaved one through for a double pointer. Manypenny, on a pass from Pollock shot the ball through for a double decker. Staley tied the score up for the East End lads with a foul goal. At this stage of the contest, the game for the first time, began to get interesting, winding up with a whirl wind finish by St. Stephens that crushed the hopes of the East End passers. Pollock found the basket for St. Stephens, puting them in the lead. Dyer came through with another one, making the lead still bigger. Manypenny boosted it two points. Staley made good on a foul line chance. Pollock and Dyer made the game safe for St. Stephens when they caged the last two baskets of the contest. Manypenny, Dyer and Pollock were the leading performers for St. Stephens and H. Rose, McKim and Heith led the East End lads.

The First Presbyterian Juniors massacred the Christian Juniors in the preliminary tilt by the score of 66 to 4. Lineup and summary.

Highs Tackle Salem Quint Here Tonight

Leadership of County Scholastic Conference at Stake in Clash Between Foremost Teams; Locals Anticipate Stiff Tussle With Pittsburg Fifth Avenue Squad Saturday.

SALEM high school basketball teams, scheduled to face the Blue and White squads tonight on the local court, are anticipating two of the toughest games on their 1925 card.

And Coach Lorah's lads, who have yet to be defeated by a scholastic combine, are looking for nothing easy in their third county conference clash. The locals have copped two county engagements in a row, topping East Palestine and Lisbon, and a victory over the Red and Black would give them undisputable leadership.

The Salem-East Liverpool clashes headline the county schedule this week. East Palestine will be in action at Columbiana and Lisbon will play at Wellsville.

Salem and East Liverpool fives at present are tied for leadership in the conference, although the north countians have played only one game, winning from Wellsville.

Salem girls, undefeated up until present time, anticipate another conquest tonight. Any championship visions the locals might have entertained at the outset of the season have been dissipated by two consecutive defeats and it is likely the Blue and White sextet will leave the field clear for the Salem-Lisbon battle, for between these two teams it is probable the real contest will develop. Lisbon has won from both East Liverpool and Columbiana and, consequently, has an excellent start to title honors.

The engagement tonight with Salem is but one of two hard battles listed for the Ceramic City quint.

Tomorrow Lorah's charges will tackle Fifth Avenue High, of Pittsburgh, here. It will be the first appearance of the Pennsylvanians here in a number of years and the clash is expected to prove a real attraction. The Saturday games will be played earlier than usual, to permit the Pittsburghers to make train connections home. The preliminary will get under way at 6:45 and the main go at 7:45.

Here are statistics on the county race to date:

Boys:—	G.	W.	L.
East Liverpool	2	2	0
Salem	1	1	0
Lisbon	2	1	1
East Palestine	1	0	1
Wellsville	1	0	1

Girls:—	G.	W.	L.
Lisbon	2	2	0
Salem	1	1	0
East Palestine	1	1	0
Columbiana	1	0	1
Wellsville	1	0	1
East Liverpool	2	0	2

SAFETY DRIVE IS LAUNCHED

Series of Suggestions Prepared by State Mine Inspector.

To aid the state-wide safety campaign which opened today, R. M. Lambie, state mine inspector, has prepared a series of suggestions to be submitted to the coal operators of the state through their associations. These suggestions, eight in number, are:

First — Pledge each employe in writing to faithfully observe the mining laws and the mining rules and regulations.

Second—Organize a safety club consisting of all employes at the mine and select therefrom a safety committee consisting of five employes whose duty it shall be to aid the mine authorities in the enforcement of all safety regulations.

Third—Hold at least one meeting a month of the safety club when the dangers incident to mining can be stressed by local or visiting speakers.

Fourth—Hold weekly meetings of mine officials, superintendents, foremen, assistant foremen, fire bosses, etc., to discuss safety measures.

Fifth—In many instances the local school in the mining community can be utilized to stimulate interest. When boys and girls are interested, they carry that interest into the home.

Sixth—In every mining community there should be an active head to this safety work. Some companies have welfare agents who direct this work. It has been found that where responsibility is lodged in an individual rather than distributed among several, better results are obtained.

Seventh—Trophies or prizes awarded to those who make and maintain the lowest accident records have been found to stimulate and maintain interest.

Eighth—The district mine inspector, or the safety director, will visit the mine and explain in detail the various suggestions that are being made to reduce the number of mining accidents and personally solicit the cooperation of the mine authorities.

Eugene O'Brien Has Lead in "Graustark," At The American

"The typical Americans."

This was the title bestowed upon Eugene O'Brien by Dimitri Buchowetzki, celebrated European director, in choosing O'Brien for the leading role in "Graustark," Norma Talmadge's new starring production made by Joseph M. Schenck for First National.

As Grenfall Lorry, young American adventurer, O'Brien has a typical role in McCutcheon's charming old-world romance.

There are not ten actors in the United States who could play the part satisfactorily, Buchowetzki claims.

"Graustark" presents Norma Talmadge once more in a young romantic role, following the tremendous success of "The Lady" and "Secrets," both of which were character parts. The new picture is expected to add fresh laurels to Miss Talmadge's motion picture career.

It presents her as Princess Yetive of the mythical kingdom of Graustark, situated in the mountainous south of Europe. Although surrounded by old-world conventions, she manages to break through and, with the aid of O'Brien, win her way to happiness.

The picture is booked for the American for a three-day run commencing Monday.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain How To Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestents are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

BUCYRUS, O., Jan. 14.—An accumulation of mail in the postman's box at the residence of Mrs. John Eberth, 66, led to an investigation by neighbors which resulted in finding the lifeless body of the aged woman lying in her bed. It was apparent she had been dead three or four days.

BELASCO HIT HERE JAN. 28

New York Cast Will Present "Ladies of Evening."

David Belasco's production, "Ladies of the Evening," one of the brightest comedy dramas that has ever left the studio of that famous producer, is the attraction scheduled for the presentation at the Ceramic theatre Thursday, January 28, for one night only.

It is intensely realistic in character and, staged with that consummate skill of Belasco, it brings the audience momentarily into the life that it depicts. There are times when one fairly gasps at the daring of the producer, but so cleverly and delicately handled are the scenes that none can take offense at them. There is no nakedness or immorality to be found in it. There is merely the broad painting of the lives of those vendors of love who are to be found in every community and their methods of enticing victims. The author has not neglected the lighter touches.

Several of the scenes are filled with mirth provoking episodes that elicit hearty laughter from the audience. Everywhere in the piece is found that artistic excellence for which the name of David Belasco is a synonym.

The staging of the play is on a par with all the other pieces Belasco has sent on the road from his wonderful studio and this one comes with the entire cast and stage settings from the Lyceum theatre, New York, where it had a season's successful run.

Former Sheriff Under Bond Pending Trial On Serious Charge

MARION, O. — Under $1,000 bond pending trial, Frank A. Washburn, former sheriff of Marion county, today reiterated his plea of innocence in connection with an embezzlement charge brought by his employers, Lutz Bros. Fruit Co.

Washburn surrendered to Sheriff Deal when detectives hired by Lutz Bros. claimed they had unearthed defalcations in Washburn's accounts totalling $2,700.

The specific charge on which Washburn was arraigned was that he embezzled $138.45 of Lutz Bros. funds entrusted to his care as manager of the Findlay branch.

JAPANESE TURN TO CHESTNUT IN FOOD PLAN

Fifteen Million Trees to be Set Out In Nippon

RICE SUBSTITUTE

More Nutritious Than White or Sweet Potatoes.

TOKYO.—The humble, but highly nutritive chestnut, is to be called upon to solve Japan's food problem if Prof. Kai Iriya, head of the forest affairs section of the department of agriculture and forestry, has his say.

Prof. Iriya is sponsoring a plan to plant 150,000,000 chestnut trees in all parts of Japan. By so doing, he declares, the nation will be able to produce sufficient food to obivate the necessity of importing staple foodstuffs from abroad.

Utilize Unused Land.

Under Prof. Iriya's scheme about 1,000 chestnut trees would bo planted on each two and one-half acres of land allotted to the propect. They would be planted along the banks of rivers, in hills and vacant lots so as to decrease the area of land cultivated for other purposes.

"I am confident that the food problem of the country can be solved by this plan to an extent that it would not be necessary any longer to import rice from abroad," Prof. Iriya said. "At present Japan is importing from 15,000,000 to 25,000,000 bushels of rice each year at a cost of more than $50,000,000 and this is very serious factor in the trade balance of the nation.

"The price of chestnuts at present is high because so few are produced. I have made an investigation and have found that as long as 1,300 years ago the chestnut was grown extensively in Japan and was a favorite food of the people. The introduction of potatoes and other vegetables from western lands, however gradually crowded out the growing of chestnuts and the trees were allowed to die.

Found Nuturitious.

"I have had my food experts make a comparative study of white potatoes, sweet potatoes and chestnuts as regards their nutritive value and have found that chestnuts are far more nutritious than the others. The Japanese people like chestnuts and these nuts, mixed with rice, always have been a favorite food in this country. If more will be cheaper nad the people as a whole will be able to eat them in greater quantities."

Prof. Iriya will present his plan to Seiji Hayami, the minister of agriculture and forestry, and ask his department chief to endeavor to obtain government air and sanction for it.

Investigating Story.

BRIDGEPORT, O., Jan. 14.—Police today were investigating a story told by Lee Woods, 14, of Scotch Ridge, to the effect that moonshiners kidnaped him and hauled him several miles to an abandoned sawmill near Colerain where they threatened him with death if he told the location of their illicit still which he accidentally ran into while playing.

In some sections of Italy bread is made of chestnuts. Some humorists in this country make their bread from the same material.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

THREE MORE MINE DISTRICTS FORMED

In compliance with a law enacted by the last legislature, R. M. Lambie, chief of the department of mines, has divided the state into 25 mining districts, it was announced yesterday. This increases the number by three. One new district is in the Panhandle, another in the Fairmount district, and the third in the Logan district.

Only the first, second and fifth districts retain their numbers in the new division.

ROAD PROGRAM BEING FRAMED

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Company, Atlanta, Ga. (adv.)

SPECIAL LEVIES ON TAX BOOKS

Assessments Placed on Duplicate Largest in Years.

There was due an payable at the December tax collecting period $215,425.50 in delinquent and special assessments, according to records just compiled in the office of County Auditor Charles E. Hamilton. This is the largest amount of special assessments placed on the duplicate in years. The special assessments have to do with street lighting and sewer improvements, and in one instance, that of Columbiana corporation, the special assessment is for street sprinkling purposes.

Township and road district special assessments have been listed on the tax duplicate as follows:

Goshen township school district $2,019.26; Knox township $2,609; Perry township, $195.68; Salem township, $3,088.34; Washington township $1,689.67; West township, $11,167.74. The total of these special assessments is $20.769.69.

Municipal special assessments total $149,658.17, and have been divided among the following districts: Lisbon corporation, $12,077.36; Columbiana corporation, $20.094.97; East Liverpool city, $50,519.15; Salem city, $39,620.54; Leetonia corporation, $551.74; New Waterford corporation, $265.62; East Palestine corporation, $16,234.37; Salineville corporation, $2,604.85; Wellsville city $7,689.57.

The county debt special assessment is placed at $17,119.66 and the special county road assessment totals $27,877.98.

Laxity in the payment of these assessments in the past has caused authorities to levy a special millage in order to take care of bonds which were issued for certain improvements in anticipation of the collection of assessments. Had it been possible to collect the assessments semi-annually, the tax rate in a number of districts would now be lower. The bonds are paid for from the sinking fund, and this fund must always be kept up to a point where all bonds are paid for, also interest, when either become due.

There has been more activity in the payment of these special assessments this year than ever before, the assessments being collected by County Treasurer Jo Pike when property tax is collected. Practically no opposition has been offered to the payment of the special assessments, and the tax against the property is not received unless the special assessments against that particular property is also paid at the same time.

Statio!!

There's odes been written to darn near every month in the year but somehow the bards have overlooked and pointedly neglected January! They've dismissed it with scant courtesy generally making some dutty crack about it being cold and full of snow. I happened to mention this to my friend (?) Shorty, and while he's not as literary as a lot of other people I know, he advised that for this week we get together on a poem dedicated to JANUARY. It's taken lots of sweat and ink and dictionary thumbing to roll this out but here it is:

January, the month of vows and bills,
"Tum" aches dour and headache pills,
You every year find me involved
In money problems hard to solve.

My Christmas spirit, bold and rash,
Puts wings to all my ready cash.
And on my nose a grindstone stuck,
Doggone you, Jan.! You're sure hard luck.

JOHN CARNAHAN.

Shorty Says:

The only trouble with that poem I helped Jack on was that he didn't take time to finish it. There ought to be a third verse to it. I wrote this myself and want ENTIRE credit.

But tho' there's months I hold much dearer,
Your days bring spring just that much nearer.
So while your ornery thro' and thro'—
Doggone it, I must stand for you.

There's some REAL poetry! Anybody want to write the 4th verse? Send 'em in.

METHUSELAH'S WIFE

THE STORY OF A GIRL — BY EDGAR POE NORRIS — WHO MARRIED FOR MONEY

© CENTRAL PRESS ASS'N

FORTY-NINE.

Her heart was beating so furiously that it seemed Wyman Holt must hear it and know how he had disturbed her; but Laurel, without daring to look him in the eyes, somehow managed to convey the impression that she was calm and unmoved by his question. As if her attention had been elsewhere, perhaps on the scarcely audible conversation Marion was carrying on over the telephone in the hall, she affected not to have understood him. "You must excuse me, Wyman, but I'm afraid I didn't hear what you said."

His smile sharpened. "I said that it is frequently convenient not to hear." He was still standing, and one of his hands played delicately with the filigree top of the gold sugar-bowl.

Laurel raised an arm carelessly and pointed to his left: "Perhaps that chair would be more comfortable."

Wyman, smiling broadly again, made a slight bow that was a charicature, and pulled the chair close to the lounge upon which she was sitting. "You know very well what I said, but I shall repeat it. . . . Now that you have enticed me here by subterfuge, are you very, very glad to see me."

Laurel strained a little more to hear what Marion was saying, hoping that the conversation was near its end. "As always, Wyman," she said after a moment, "you are very impudent and presumptuous.

"And you, dear Laurel, are as always, charming, irresistible, clever, and yet obvious."

She wanted to say something very cutting, but al lshe could think of at the moment was, "Your conceit is as colossal as ever."

"You used to rather like me and my conceit, Laurel." He bent very close to her now. "I don't believe that all of——."

Laurel held up a warning finger; she had just heard Marion hang up the receiver. "Please, Wyman——."

He seat up in his chair and took a piece of crystalized ginger to nibble. Laurel took a clean cup and saucer from the lower shelf of the serving-wagon and poured hot tea for Marion. She determined that no telephone call or anything else shoulde place her alone with Wyman Holt again. . . . . What was keeping Marion? .?.?.? . . Some trick of her mind caused her to remember herself and Paula Yancy as eavesdroppers and she wondered if this was the explanation of the delay in Marion's return.

"Did you arrange for Marion to disappear, too?" Wyman remarked, with the same insinuating lint in his eye.

Instinctively Laurel pressed a finger to her lips, and then realized that if Marion were peeping through the door hangings she could see this sign. After a hesitant moment, she got up and went to the door, her heart pounding. She had no idea of what to do if she discovered Marion listening in. Relief suffused her when she saw Marion was not in the hall. . . . She probably had gone upstairs.

Wyman Holt rose and walked to meet her as she returned to the tea-wagon. She halted and they stood gazing at each other like two hostile animals. Impulsively he spoke out, deeply moved: "Laurel, I know how unhappy you are! How long are you going to keep up this farce?"

The woman's eyes that were upon him closed with pain, and she slowly shook her head. For a minute she stood like a statue. "Oh, Wyman, if you love me—as you say you do—please, oh, please don't persecute me like this.' As she uttered the words she had the sense of making some terrible admission.

"Then you do love me!"

She held out her arms to keep him back. "I love Noble Harwood. I am his wife. And——." She turned back toward the door, with the idea of fleeing. She had taken several steps when Marion appeared at the portal.

"Oh, I though you——" Laural began. "I—I must make a telephone call." She hurried out in the hall as Marion walked slowly toward Wyman, aroused.

"I'm all excited about the ball," he ventured, at the same time making an end of the piece of ginger that was now warm and sticky.

Preoccupied, Marion answered him mechanically, "I am too."

"Is it two early to ask for dances—all you have to spare?" he said, catching her eye.

She did not smile. "You may have the first."

Laurel, who had been having a wretched time of it in the hall, reentered the library. "I poured a warmer cup of tea for you, dear," she told Marion.

"I don't thing I want any." Marion took up a cake and nibbled at it.

Wyman extracted a cigaret case and offered it around. Laurel, still standing, declined. Marion accepted. "I thought you smoked, Laurel," he said.

"I don't care for cigarets. And besides, Noble doesn't like to have me smoke."

Marion glanced at her contemptuously and exhaled a gush of smoke as Laurel said. "I shall have to ask you two to excuse me. . . . . You must come to tea again soon, Wyman."

He bowed slightly as he arose in courtesy.

Marion watched Wyman as his eyes followed Laurel from the room. "You think a lot of Laurel ,don't you?" she asked slowly.

Wyman was equal to the occasion. "Only because she is your stepmother.' He had not seated himself and he advanced nad took her free hand. "Come take a spin on the River road with me."

Marion calmly pulled the hand free and gushed another cloud of smoke.

"No, I don't want to——." She was furious. She was sure of her suspicions; there was something between Laurel and Wyman Holt. No wonder Laurel had been so willing to invite Wyman to come here. And she herself had been foolish enough to leave them alone.

"Well, have dinner with me this evening at the country club, and go to a show?"

"No, I don't want to. . . . ." Jealousy was gnawing at her heart.

"UPSIDE-DOWN" LAND IS FOUND "EAST OF SUEZ"

Worms Sing, Fish Climb Trees, Says Explorer.

WILD WOMEN, TOO

Girls File Teeth Before Marriage in Jungles.

LONDON—A land where worms sing, birds sleep upside down, fish climb trees, and 20,000 wild women roam the swamps and jungle has just been described by Carveth Wells after a journey to unknown spots in the Malay peninsula.

The chorus of worms, according to Wells, is apt to irritate, as the tune sometimes becomes monotonous, while the fish that look down with watery eyes from their shady nooks in the trees do so reproachfully.

Nature Is Upset.

"Nature seems to have been completely upset by the absence of any marked seasons in the peninsula," says Wells. "You will find birds nesting in one tree and the same kind of birds moulting in another.

"You may have a tree in your garden with fruit on it, while the next neighbor has the same kind of tree in blossom.

"One of the Malay birds, a paroquet called Serindit, actually sleeps upside down. Another bird, the bustard quail, is peculiar because the female is bigger than the male. She lays the eggs but he sits on them. During the mating season the females do the fighting for the males.

"The Malays, and even the aborigines have their homes on the banks of the rivers or on the sea coast, with the result that the bulk of the peninsula has never been trodden by the foot of man. It is still the home of tigers, elephants, tapirs, snakes 30 feet long, insects more than a foot long, moth a foot wide, and 20,000 women.

Divorce Is Simple.

"The girls put up their hair at the age of three, and it is considered beautiful there to possess a yellow complexion. Brides have their teeth filed before marriage. The head of the family is never the wife or the husband, but the wife's eldest brother, and a married couple nearly always live with the mother-in-law. Both parties can divorce one another by saying three times in the presence of witnesses, 'I divorce thee.'

"The country is completely upside down. Crabs eat cocoanuts, fish eat coral, and rats live on the tops of tall trees."

Test Delicate Instrument to Measure Salt of Ocean.

WASHINGTON.—A bee's burglar alarm is one of the government's latest contributions to science.

In novelty and intricate mechanism it undoubtedly exceeds the dream of the individual who conceived the bee's mittens or a pair of pliers for removing a gnat's eyebrows.

In connection with a study of bees and the honey industry a government scientist perfected an electrical device, placed on the doorstep of a beehive, to register the entrance and exit of the honey-makers with due precision.

Whenever a bee entered or left the hive her movements were electrically recorded on a graphic chart. It was said that this unique instrument has furnished scientists with important information relative to the honey industry.

Other Instruments.

Many other delicate instruments for measurements and scientific studies have been perfected at the United States Bureau of Standards.

For astronomical studies Dr. W. W. Coblenz has invented a radiometer by which he is able to measure the heat radiated by a candle at a distance of 100 miles. Dr. Coblenz, with this instrument, determined the heat of more than 100 stars and planets and was able to announce definitely that the temperature on the plant Mars makes possible the existence there of animal life.

Another strange device measures the salt content of the sea by comparing the electrical conductivity of samples of local ocean water with that of known standard samples.

"Such tests of deep-sea samples may indicate the proximity of icebergs, because the fresh water from a melting berg is colder and spreads as it sinks to the bottom," a government scientist explained. This device is capable of practical employment and is being used in connection with the International Iceberg Patrol, conducted by the government in co-operation with foreign nations, each year."

A master clock at the Bureau of Standards has a maximum variation of one-fifth of a second per month, so perfect is its construction. The time recorded by this clock, one of the most accurate in all the world, is checked frequently by time signals from star observations, at the national observatory.

Operation is Sensitive.

The pendulum of invar steel runs in a vacuum case. Its operation is so sensitive that movement may be retarded by admitting air or accelerated by removing air. The clock is equipped to send an electric impulse by wire to any laboratory in the bureau every second, for the precision time service required in many researches.

Measuring appliances are often of high precision or of great ingenuity. For an unusual psychological research a bureau expert devised and made an instrument to measure the heat evolved by a human nerve carrying an impulse.

Government scientists are exploring the atom. Research in this field has developed the necessity of measurement of the energy required to displace an electron in an atom, or remove it entirely from the atom.

"It is now known that the structure of the atoms can be learned and the frequency of radiation computed from a measurement of the energy referred to above," an expert said.

High sensitivity in length measures has been attained in an improved ultramicrometer. Two plates, one fixed, the other movable, form an electric condenser in parallel with an adjusted uctance giving, with suitable current source, waves of radio frequency.

A second fixed source of radio-frequency waves is tuned so that the two waves trains beat audibly, a musical beat note being heard.

When the movable plate of the first condenser is moved by an amount as small as one-billionth of an inch, there is a decided change of pitch in the musical tone. The apparatus is far too sensitive for any known use, but its principle is being successfully used for gauge testing to a millionth of an inch.

Marshal Joffre, victor of the Marne, who has completed his memoirs, has decided not to publish them for some time.

Fuel alcohol made from sugar beets is advocated by a committee formed to investigate liquid fuel possibilities in England, it being suggested that out of the beet season potatoes, damaged grain molasses and cassava could be utilized.

PAIN, NEURITIS, RHEUMATISM

"Heet" Relieves Instantly

With applicator attached to cork, just brush "Heet" over the pain area, whether in elbows, arms, shoulders, feet, knees, legs, back, neck or body. Instantly, you feel this harmless, glorious, penetrating heat draw the pain, soreness and stiffness right out of the aching or swollen joint, muscle or nerve. Besides "Heet" scatters the congestion and establishes a cure.

"Heet" contains two soothing, penetrating ingredients, too expensive to use in ordinary liniments or analgesics. "Heet" is a clean, pleasant liquid; doesn't stain, blister or irritate the skin and costs only 60 cents at any drug store.

"UPSIDE-DOWN" LAND IS FOUND "EAST OF SUEZ"

Worms Sing, Fish Climb Trees, Says Explorer.

WILD WOMEN, TOO

Girls File Teeth Before Marriage in Jungles.

LONDON—A land where worms sing, birds sleep upside down, fish climb trees, and 20,000 wild women roam the swamps and jungle has just been described by Carveth Wells after a journey to unknown spots in the Malay peninsula.

The chorus of worms, according to Wells, is apt to irritate, as the tune sometimes becomes monotonous, while the fish that look down with watery eyes from their shady nooks in the trees do so reproachfully.

Nature Is Upset.

"Nature seems to have been completely upset by the absence of any marked seasons in the peninsula," says Wells. "You will find birds nesting in one tree and the same kind of birds moulting in another.

"You may have a tree in your garden with fruit on it, while the next neighbor has the same kind of tree in blossom.

"One of the Malay birds, a paroquet called Serindit, actually sleeps upside down. Another bird, the bustard quail, is peculiar because the female is bigger than the male. She lays the eggs but he sits on them. During the mating season the females do the fighting for the males.

"The Malays, and even the aborigines have their homes on the banks of the rivers or on the sea coast, with the result that the bulk of the peninsula has never been trodden by the foot of man. It is still the home of tigers, elephants, tapirs, snakes 30 feet long, insects more than a foot long, moth a foot wide, and 20,000 women.

Divorce Is Simple.

"The girls put up their hair at the age of three, and it is considered beautiful there to possess a yellow complexion. Brides have their teeth filed before marriage. The head of the family is never the wife or the husband, but the wife's eldest brother, and a married couple nearly always live with the mother-in-law. Both parties can divorce one another by saying three times in the presence of witnesses, 'I divorce thee.'

"The country is completely upside down. Crabs eat cocoanuts, fish eat coral, and rats live on the tops of tall trees."

BURGLAR ALARM FOR BEE HIVES U. S. INVENTION

Scientists Have Machine to Cout Honey Makers' Footsteps.

OTHER DEVICES

Test Delicate Instrument to Measure Salt of Ocean.

WASHINGTON.—A bee's burglar alarm is one of the government's latest contributions to science.

In novelty and intricate mechanism it undoubtedly exceeds the dream of the individual who conceived the bee's mittens or a pair of pliers for removing a gnat's eyebrows.

In connection with a study of bees and the honey industry a government scientist perfected an electrical device, placed on the doorstep of a beehive, to register the entrance and exit of the honey-makers with due precision.

Whenever a bee entered or left the hive her movements were electrically recorded on a graphic chart. It was said that this unique instrument has furnished scientists with important information relative to the honey industry.

Dr. Coblenz, with this instrument, determined the heat of more than 100 stars and planets and was able to announce definitely that the temperature on the plant Mars makes possible the existence there of animal life.

Another strange device measures the salt content of the sea by comparing the electrical conductivity of samples of local ocean water with that of known standard samples.

"Such tests of deep-sea samples may indicate the proximity of icebergs, because the fresh water from a melting berg is colder and spreads as it sinks to the bottom," a government scientist explained. This device is capable of practical employment and is being used in connection with the International Iceberg Patrol, conducted by the government in co-operation with foreign nations, each year."

A master clock at the Bureau of Standards has a maximum variation of one-fifth of a second per month, so perfect is its construction. The time recorded by this clock, one of the most accurate in all the world, is checked frequently by time signals from star observations, at the national observatory.

Operation is Sensitive.

The pendulum of invar steel runs in a vacuum case. Its operation is so sensitive that movement may be retarded by admitting air or accelerated by removing air. The clock is equipped to send an electric impulse by wire to any laboratory in the bureau every second, for the precision time service required in many researches.

Measuring appliances are often of high precision or of great ingenuity. For an unusual psychological research a bureau expert devised and made an instrument to measure the heat evolved by a human nerve carrying an impulse.

Government scientists are exploring the atom. Research in this field has developed the necessity of measurement of the energy required to displace an electron in an atom, or remove it entirely from the atom.

"It is now known that the structure of the atoms can be learned and the frequency of radiation computed from a measurement of the energy referred to above," an expert said.

High sensitivity in length measures has been attained in an improved ultramicrometer. Two plates, one fixed, the other movable, form an electric condenser in parallel with an adjusted uctance giving, with suitable current source, waves of radio frequency.

A second fixed source of radio-frequency waves is tuned so that the two waves trains beat audibly, a musical beat note being heard.

When the movable plate of the first condenser is moved by an amount as small as one-billionth of an inch, there is a decided change of pitch in the musical tone. The apparatus is far too sensitive for any known use, but its principle is being successfully used for gauge testing to a millionth of an inch.

Marshal Joffre, victor of the Marne, who has completed his memoirs, has decided not to publish them for some time.

SOVIET AWAITS LABOR JUNKET FROM AMERICA

Moscow Expects No Help from A. F. L. In Proposed Trip.

BANK ON VISIT

Communists Plan to Give Foreigners Every Attention.

MOSCOW, Dec. 28.—News from America that left wing labor organizations there are collecting money under the stimulus of the English Communist Purcell, to send a delegation on a tour of the Soviet Union has aroused enthusiasm in Moscow. The United States is the only important nation left which has not yet sent a labor junket to Russia, and the Bolsheviks feel that an American ideal climax to the series of calls paid this year by groups of workingmen from almost every European country.

Comment in Soviet circles is always bitter against the American Federation of Labor, and in this instance the Russians expect no collaboration from the cohorts of William Green. But the hope is expressed that, despite the hostility of the Federation toward the Soviet Union, and toward Purcell, that Purcell will be successful in inducing the radical trade unions of New York and Chicago to recognize the advantages of an official inspection of "the first workers and peasants republic."

Visit Made Pleasant.

The Communists lay a great deal of store by the visits of foreign workingmen, and no effort is spared to make their stay in Russia agreeable. Once the foreign visitors reach Russia, the government, the trade unions, the communist party and the communist international vie with one another in extending hospitality to them.

Brass bands and cheering crowds meet the delegations at every station, which are decorated with banners inscribed in the language of the visitors with messages of welcome and proletarian mottoes. In Moscow the visitors are wined and dined, carried about in the best official automobiles and lodged in the most comfortable hotel rooms.

They are addressed at banquets by the heads of the government, and have private access to the most inaccessible figures of the regime. They are supplied with passes, and permitted to go wherever they please.

That these tactics repay the Communist cause far more than the outlay is illustrated by the results. The English delegation produced a report which has been the chief mine of material for the British Labor Party's campaign to trade with Russia. The German representatives, who were given a reception second only to the ovation accorded the English, returned to their country with an account of conditions which is still being used effectively for the benefit of the Communist party there. And the Czecho-Slovakians, who came to Russia just before the recent parliamentary elections, went back and helped roll up more than a million red votes for the comrades.

Besides these delegations, the Austrians, Swedes, Norwegians and Danes have sent labor representatives and France and Belgium have sent parties of liberal and radical teachers to Russia this year. Of the chief European countries, only Italy has held aloof.

In spite of the curious diplomatic amity between the arch-enemy of communism and the leaders of the communist state, Mussolini has not yet permitted an Italian labor delegation to visit Russia.

Large Verdict.

BETHESDA, O., Jan. 14.—The largest verdict in the history of Belmont county courts in which George A. Lea & CO., of Rocky Mountain, N. C., received an award of $66,000 for tobacco purchased on behalf of A. Friedberg & Bro., of Pittsburgh, Pa., was announced today.

The verdict was based on the firm's claim for tobacco which the Pittsburgh concern failed to accept and which is in storage here.

The Pay of Judges.
The Right Air Ports.
Soup Is Good For You.
Our Land Is Booming.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

Congress should not neglect at this session the question of decent pay for federal judges. All of the judges in the national service are underpaid. For justices of the supreme bench and all through the federal judicial service, the shamefully inadequate pay is a disgrace to the richest nation in the world.

It is impossible, of course, for the judges to make any campaign on their own behalf, but the country that depends on them for justice and protection should pay them at least enough to live decently.

Lieut. Col. Foulois, commanding air forces at Mitchell Field, says there should be a great "terminal" for airships in the east, located on the Newark meadows, west of Jersey City, close to New York, connected with New York by subways.

The idea is sound, including the suggestion of an elevated landing field. Connected with it there could be arranged, at minimum expense, a water landing for the navy's hydro-aeroplanes, thoroughly sheltered. This plan had previously been discussed by Dwight Morrow, head of the president's air committee.

Newark, Jersey City, Hoboken, Elizabeth, Elizabethport and New York city are destined to be one great city with 40,000,000 of people, equaling in population England or France. An adequate air terminal, in the center of that future city, should be bought and built by the government now, for postoffice and commercial flying in peace, the other thing in war. There wouldn't be any war, if we had the right commercial fleet.

That's why President Coolidge constantly urges the development of commercial aviation.

Similar great combination landing fields for hydroaeroplanes and other airplanes should be established in the principal cities of the nation—Chicago, Boston, San Francisco, Seattle, Los Angeles, New Orleans, Galveston, etc.

Corn prices are low, "hogs are high." This puzzles farmers and packers. Corn and hog prices should go up and down together, since the pig is really corn changed into meat. There is always something to puzzle and distress the farmer. He has no sufficient national organization, and after election day he hasn't much influence in government, compared with railroads and other big financial units.

At the midday luncheon club in New York you can see eating at the same time those that control then thousand millions of dollars. Farmers are scattered all over the land, and if you could get them together there wouldn't be any hall that could hold them.

The heating plants of thousands of homes are wasteful, for one reason or another.

It may be that no matter how much fuel you burn, your house is not satisfactorily warmed. The trouble should be located and corrected.

CREATE PLACE OF CITY HALL AND MUNICIPAL COURT JANITOR

Emergency Ordinance Adopted by Unanimous Vote.

MAYOR WILL SIGN

Accept County Offer to Grade North Dresden Avenue.

Office of turnkey at the city jail, held by William A. Cline, was abolished by an emergency ordinance, adopted unanimously upon three readings under suspension of the rules by council last night.

The measure, which becomes effective immediately upon the signature of Mayor Ralph C. Benedum provides for the repeal of ordinance No. 1968, passed a year ago, which created the job at a salary of $120 per month, placed the appointee under civil service and gave him all police powers.

Authorize Janitor Appointment.

Mayor Benedum is expected to sign the legislation within the next few days, witholding his signature pending the appointment of a janitor for the city building.

The solons also enacted an ordinance upon three readings, fixing $120 a month as the salary of the janitor for the city hall, municipal court and city water works office. Councilman Hayes and Farrall opposed a proposed $100 salary, asserting that a married man could not support a family on this amount. The solons then voted to make the janitor's pay the same as now received by the turnkey. Of this amount, $75 will be paid by the water works department and the remaining $45 from the service department fund.

A resolution directing and authorizing the Service-Safety department to employ a janitor to care for and keep in clean condition city hall, municipal court rooms and water works office was also approved.

Designate Court Depository.

Another resolution, designating the First National bank as the depository

CHATEAU FRONTENAC, FAMOUS HOTEL IN QUEBEC, IS SWEPT BY FLAMES

Three Hundred Guests Flee as Short Circuit Causes Fire—Five Firemen and Spectator Injured.

QUEBEC, Jan. 15.—Chateau Frontenac, one of the most famous hotels on the North American continent, was a sorry sight today.

Fire during the night had swept the old wing off Dufferin Terrace—high above the St. Lawrence river—and smoke and water damaged the newer section. Damage was estimated at $2,000,000.

Three hundred guests had escaped from the chateau, but one man, a commercial traveler, was overcome by smoke.

A short circuit, caused by the blowing out of a fuse in the old tower, is believed to have caused the fire.

The Quebec fire brigade, which was on the scene within a few minutes after the fire was discovered, did yeoman service. A special train, carrying Montreal fire fighters, reached here shortly after midnight, but the Quebec firemen had the flames under control.

Old Tower Collapses.

Five firemen and a spectator were injured.

Two hours after the fire was discovered the old tower fell with the sound of artillery fire.

Meanwhile, the hotel guests, with the exception of the commercial trav-

38 ENTOMBED WEST VIRGINIA COAL MINERS BELIEVED DEAD

Black Damp and Fire Lessen Chances of Rescue.

BLAST MYSTERY

Fifteen Men Escape From Farmington Disaster.

GREENSBURG, Pa., Jan. 15.—Seven bodies of miners have been recovered from the Jamison Coal and Coke company mine at Farmington, West Virginia, where an explosion is said to have entombed 38, according to advices received here today at the headquarters of the coal company.

Nine more miners were known to have been working in the entry from which the bodies were recovered, according to reports received here. Hope is held out that 24 miners working in an entry about two miles from the one where the bodies were found, will be rescued alive, it was stated.

George B. Taylor, general manager of the Jamison Coal and Coke company, and Edward Cowan, chief engineer, left here early today for the scene of the explosion. Company headquarters has not been advised of the cause of the explosion.

FARMINGTON, W. Va., Jan. 15.—Gas masks, rushed here from Barracksville, Fairmont and nearby towns, were donned by rescue crews early today in a second attempt to penetrate the smoke and gas filled chambers of the Jamison Coal & Coke company's mine No. 8, where between 35 and 60 miners were entombed by an explosion.

Leaders of the rescue crews believe all of the entombed miners have perished because of the dreaded black damp and the fact the fire is raging in the mine.

Frank R. Jamison, of the Jamison Coal and Coke company, expressed the belief shortly after 8 o'clock this morning that the number of miners entombed would be found to be 38.

Origin of Explosion Unknown.

Both company officials and a party of 15 miners who escaped from the mine following the explosion were unable to account for the origin of the blast. The mine was one of the most modern equipped shafts in northern West Virginia, it was said, and every precaution was taken to safeguard the lives of the miners.

Wilburton Buries Its Dead.

WILBURTON, Okla., Jan. 15.—Wilburton and the surrounding coal towns of the Oklahoma coal field were burying their dead today while state officials prepared for the formal investigation into the cause of the death of 91 miners in the Degnan-McConnell Mine No. 21, wrecked Wednesday by an explosion.

Final funeral arrangements will be made during the day and a single funeral for those victims who have no immediate family is being considered.

MRS. LAURA E. CHRISTY TELLS POLICE SHE GAVE POISON 'FOR MEDICINE'

Bride of Nine Days Confesses, According to Chief McDermott, That She Complied With Evangelist's Request for Three Doses of Arsenic While he Was Suffering From Indigestion.

STOMACH, HEART AND BLOOD SHIPPED TO STATE CHEMIST FOR ANALYZATION

Relatives of Rev. William Christy Claim Body, Which Will be Taken to Akron for Burial, While Woman is Committed to Jail Pending Grand Jury Investigation of Case.

After confessing, police say, that she gave her husband, Rev. William E. Christy, 56, mission and slum worker, three doses of arsenic "because he wanted it" to relieve indigestion, Mrs. Laura Elsie Christy, 48, his bride of nine days, was held for grand jury action without bond on a first degree murder charge, filed by Chief of Police Hugh McDermott, when arraigned before Municipal Judge Jesse C. Hanley late yesterday afternoon.

The alleged confession was made by Mrs. Christy in the presence of Prosecuting Attorney Robert M. Brookes, Chief McDermott, Captain Mason Conley, Deputy Sheriff Lawrence Kindsvatter and a group of other officials in the mayor's office at the city hall. The woman denied that she had administered the poison to kill the pastor.

Coroner Dr. J. M. Van Fossan, East Palestine, assisted by Dr. Albert J. Michaels, who attended Mr. Christy at the City hospital, where he died Wednesday evening, and Health Commissioner Dr. John A. Fraser conducted a postmortem examination of the body at the Miller funeral home late yesterday afternoon. Mr. Christy's stomach, heart, and a sample of his blood were shipped to the state chemist at Ohio State university, Columbus, for analyzation, last night.

Mrs. George Smith, a daughter, and her husband, of Akron, arrived here last evening to claim the body. Mrs. Smith was notified by her step-mother Wednesday evening of her father's death, but knew nothing of the alleged poisoning until she arrived here. The body was to be shipped to Akron for burial on the 4:25 p. m. train.

Police Question Prisoner.

Chief McDermott, Captain Conley, D. K. Leyda, Wellsville railroad detective, and a newspaper man searched the two-room house, occupied by Chrisy and his bride near the No. 1 plant of the Homer Laughlin China company in East End, yesterday afternoon, but found no trace of the box containing the poison which the accused woman testified she had purchased last Saturday for rat poison.

Mrs. Christy's alleged admission that she gave poison to her husband, police said, was first made early yesterday afternoon, when Captain Conley and Detective Leyda resumed their questioning of the woman at the city hall, while Coroner Van Fossan was conducting a postmortem examination of Christy's body.

Throughout Thursday morning the woman steadfastly denied any connection with her husband's death, asserting that she had given him baking powder when he complained of pains in his stomach.

At first the woman, police declared, said she had given the arsenic by mistake. She said her husband has asked her to get a box from the cupboard which he claimed was a prescription given by a physician. She said she picked up the wrong box which she later discovered was arsenic. Upon further questioning, police charge, she admitted she knew it was poison, but administered it only because Mr. Christy requested it, stating that he had taken it in small doses on previous occasions and that it had relieved his pain.

Three Doses of Arsenic.

According to police statements, Mrs. Christy at first declared she gave her pastor husband only two doses of the poison, one at about 5 o'clock Tuesday evening and the other at 10 o'clock that night. Later she admitted they said, having administered the first dose upon his return from town at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning complaining of being ill. She stated that the poison was taken on the end of a knife with a glass of water in each case.

She denied having mixed the poison

THREE STREETS FOR COASTING

Mayor Benedum Urges Motorists to be Careful.

Mayor Ralph C. Benedum today designated three streets for coasting purposes and requested automobile owners to refrain from using these thoroughfares after 4 p. m. if possible.

The streets are: Ravine, from Thompson avenue to Bradshaw avenue; Minerva, from Avondale to Walnut, and Market, from Third to the C. & P. railroad crossing.

Police will not attempt to rope off streets for coasters, but urge motorists to drive slowly and exercise precautions against accident while traveling streets where children are sledriding. Police will prefer charge of reckless driving against drivers who speed along streets where children are coasting, it was warned.

EVANGELIST FORMAN LINCICOME TURNS HIS GUNS ON MODERN ROUND DANCE AND CARD PLAYING

The modern dance was termed the "most potent factor for evil at the present time" and "a moral graveyard for girls" by Rev. Forman Lincicome, Gary, Ind., evangelist, in his sermon dealing with "The Unpardonable Sin" at the Oakland Free Methodist church last night.

"The position taken in the modern round dancing would not be tolerated any other place except the dance hall," the evangelist declared. "I contend that what is ethically wrong off the dance floor is ethically wrong on the dance hall. A little motion and music cannot change the moral principal.

"If I were a church member and bound to dance I would leave the church. I could be referred to as an ex-church member, who was divorced from Christ so that I could dance with the devil.

"Some one is saying, 'Yes, but didn't David dance?' Yes, he did dance, but have you noticed how he danced? He danced by himself unto the Lord. Did you ever dance by yourself? If you did you found it a mighty lonesome job. You didn't dance by yourself unto the Lord. You danced with another man's wife unto the devil.

"Some one says, 'You are not talking about my dance.' Well, there are just two kinds of dancing—one is the slum dance and the other is the society dance. There is just one difference between the slum dance and the society dance and that is in the slums they wear more clothes than those worn by society dancers.

"All you need to do to doom the dance is to separate the sex—make men dance with men and women with women. Can you imagine Bill Jones hugging Henry Smith by a little music? No, Bill and Henry might make it across the floor once and Bill would say, 'Henry, this is too tame.' Announce a dance for men only at the hall tomorrow night and there'll be no one there but the janitor.

"You only have to make husbands dance with their wives and you have doomed it. A man might dance once around with his wife, then his corns would be hurting him or else he would have a headache. Men do not dance for the sake of hugging their own wives. Some men would just as soon hug a barrel of sour pickles as to hug their own wife.

"It does not take any brains to dance—that is why they have it as an amusement in the asylums for the feeble-minded. The more barbaric and uncivilized the people are the more they dance and the further down the social scale they go."

The evangelist also scored gambling.

"The gambler has many tools but the deck of cards is one that is used the most. It is a human fact that at least 70 per cent of

Property in Mexico

Mexico seems determined to safeguard her natural resources. The law in that country provides that at least 51 per cent of the stock in mining enterprises must be held by Mexican citizens.

A good many American business men think it is intolerable impudence for the Mexicans to insist on control of their own resources and industries. Especially such a vital industry as oil, which Americans need, and whose production and distribution they understand so well. In the good old days, it was usually Americans who controlled the mines and oil wells. Otherwise it was likely to be the British, French and Dutch.

The days of foreign exploitation in Mexico are evidently over. And what are American capitalists going to do about it? Their indignation, some of which is justifiable, doesn't accomplish much. They have a right to object to confiscation of property honestly acquired by them, and a right to object to retroactive laws against them. But Mexico has a right to make her own laws and own her own property, as long as she does not take foreign property, legitimately acquired, without giving compensation for it

It is just as well to remember, whenever such a dispute arises that our own country and people, generally speaking, have got a great deal out of Mexico in territory and wealth, since 1848, and have paid very little for it.

More Oil Per Well

There is probably more oil in the ground than ever was pumped. This may be true of the "exhausted" oil fields, without regard to new productive areas. The practice has been to take what oil came up through a drilled hole, raised by the pressure of expansive gases, and to reinforce that pressure by pumping in the later stages, then quitting. This procedure, oil experts now say, often gives no more than one-third of the oil in the pool below.

How can the rest be obtained? Engineers have been working hard on that problem lately. Various suggestions have been made, usually involving the application of artificial pressure to the oil-bearing sand under its rock cover, so as to make the oil flow up again through the bores. Henry L. Doherty, engineer and industrialist, has submitted to the president's oil board a discovery by which he says the oil flow may be greatly increased.

Obviously, obtaining twice the usual amount of petroleum per well would amount to doubling the available supply in producing fields and untapped fields, and bring in a vast, unexpected treasure from old ones. Twenty million automobile users will await the revelation with interest.

Cheaper Gas

Cheaper fuel for automobiles is predicted as a result of improved methods of pumping petroleum, greatly increasing the amount obtained from wells. It is believed that in many fields the total production may be doubled. Doubling the raw material supply would double the manufactured products, of which gasoline is most important.

Supposing this is true, do we want cheaper petroleum fuel? The question is not so foolish as it may sound. The cheaper crude oil, fuel oil, kerosene and gasoline becomes, the quicker the available supply will be gone. Present users will waste the stuff, and new uses and users will develop, quickly taking up the slack of increased production. It may be a short life and a merry one for the oil industry if prices go much lower. They are pretty low now, in this country, when the energy, convenience and all-round value of this wonderful fuel are considered.

Double potential production, by all means. But instead of doubling rapidity of production and thereby hastening exhaustion of the oil fields, it might be better to keep prices around their present level by controlling production and making the stuff last longer.

Actorless Drama

Mussolini is not the only startling personality in Italy. Enrico Prampolini, Italian futurist, who won the grand theatrical prize for something or other at the Paris International Expositino of Decorative Arts, has a little advance dope on the theater of the future.

"The actor," says Prampolini, "is a useless element in theatrical action. The new theater will present, instead of a story acted by human beings, a dramatic arrangement of forces—architectural and scenic—in which time and space will be the dynamic elements."

Well, time and space admittedly have their dramatic phases, but it hardly seems necessary to pay box-office prices to watch them do their stuff on the stage when they can be observed and studied all about us all the time free of charge.

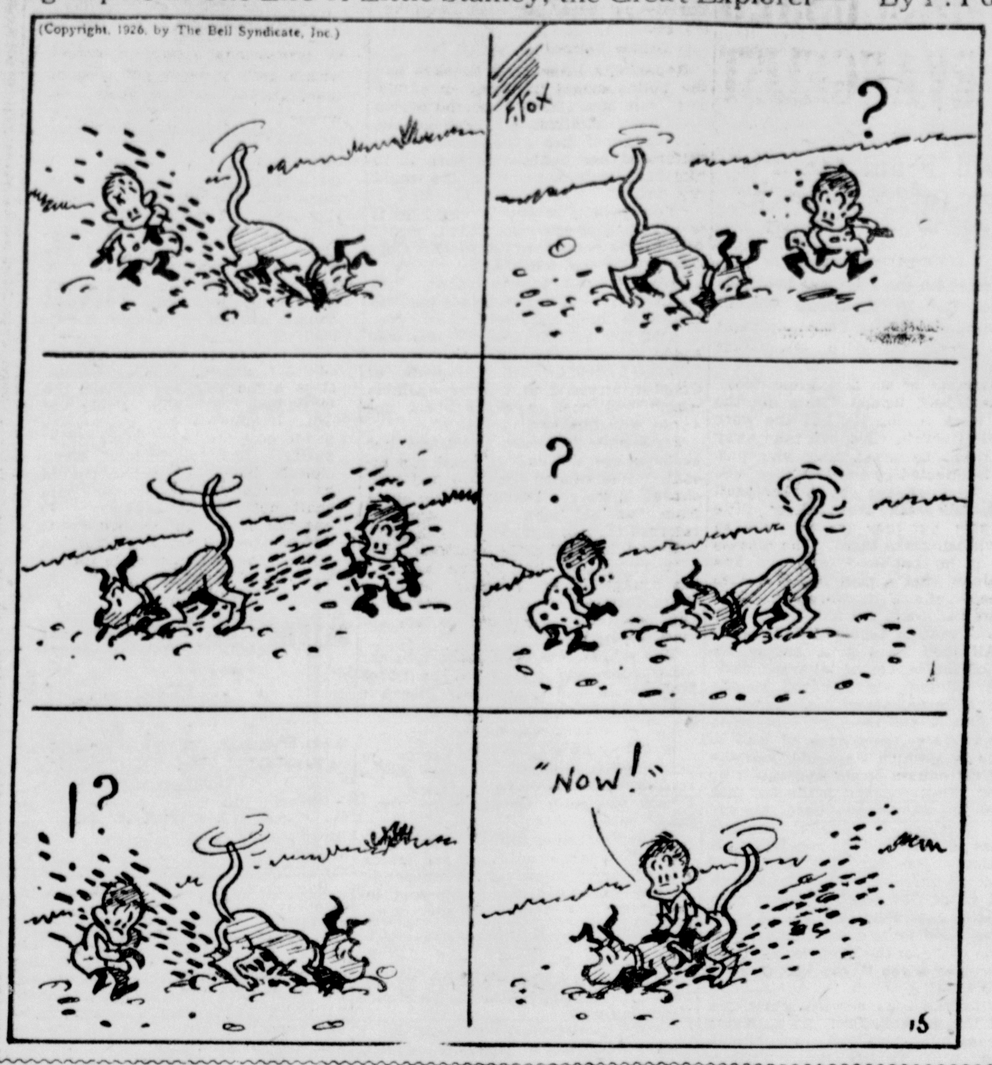
It begins to look like competitive disarmament.

Peace comes not so much because men object to war, as because they object to war taxes.

So far this year, Thrift is nearly everybody's middle name.

In this thrifty age, we may get around yet to reconditioned chewing gum.

High Spots in The Life of Little Stanley, the Great Explorer — By F. Fox



NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—Thoughts while strolling: Why is it a fellow with a nickname is usually lovable? That doesn't include yeggs. Clara Tice, the artist. The lingerie shop of a Russian princess. DeWolf Hopper's son Jack—vice president of a bank.

A window with baby clothes always draws a crowd. Why a lock on a jewel case? The newsstand girl at the Biltmore with a touch of Mona Lisa in her smile. A one-legged service man reading a free-for-all contest poster in front of a Charleston palace.

Sigmund Romberg, the composer. Lindy's, where actors wise-crack and eat. One of Eddie Foy's children. Forget which. German restaurant sign: "Anyway we have the steins." A cage of frightened raccoons on an express wagon. Never mind, you'll be overcoats by-an-by. And be checked at the Mirador.

Broadway glitter. Mascara lids. Heavy perfumes. Sables and chinchilla. Slim legs and sheer stockings. Coquetry and intrigue. Men with dip hats and curled back gloves. The constant parade—going nowhere. But going in a hurry.

All the Broadway entertainers now have "gangs." Wonder if Rin-tin-tin ever saw himself on the screen? The invariable crowd drawn to excavations. The giant searchlights for night workers. The caped movie house starters. A woman wearing a Davy Crockett fur cap.

Levy, the little haberdasher clerk, who knows all the celebrities. A lone customer in a big restaurant — a woman. The sidewalk perfume spray near the Palace. The worried looking men on Forty-seventh street who study racing forms. And chew ends of cigars.

Always a midget promenading in Times Square. The White Way now given over to chop suey, waffles and buttermilk. A chain drug store window filled with crutches and wheel chairs. Probably for victims of the "Charleston horse." We'll wait for the laugh. Thanks for the slight titter.

A well known New York gambler who goes to Europe frequently is said to carry a woman's wig and has gay ribbons run through the neck of his nightgown. He takes no chances in case of a disastrous storm.

It is said one thousand jazz musicians are employed for the cafes and supper clubs nightly in the Lobster Belt. This does not include the movie and theatrical orchestras. Many of them may be seen around 5:30 snatching a quick bite in hurry-up lunch rooms before going to work. Their big meal is at midnight.

The musicians as a general thing do not move out of their own circle. I am told the majority live in the Bronx and are married. Every musician—like most newspapermen—is going to embark in some other business but rarely does. He grows gray in service and for this reason a movement is being started to have a comfortable home endowed for musicians such as is provided for aged and infirm actors.

It has often been a desire to satisfy my curiosity regarding xylophoning as a career. Quite a number of xylophonists are featured in Broadway orchestras. Where does one go for instructions in the art? How much time is required for proficiency? Is it taught by mail? Do xylophone gadgets wear out and does one carry a reserve supply like fiddle strings? There is much mystery about xylophoning that should be cleared up.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

The Original Dr. Cook.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 15.—The United States Noval Obsevatory's expedition to Sumatra to observe the solar eclipse recalls a similar expedition sent out by Great Britain in 1769, one of the earliest official naval expeditions of the kind.

Astronomers calculated that the transit of Venus over the sun's disk would occur in 1769, and the Royal Society was interested in having this phenomenon observed. It was judged that the best place for the observation would be in some part of the South Sea, either at the Marquesas or at one of the Friendly Islands. Other nations besides England were interested, and for that reason she was anxious to make haste and obtain the best possible point of vantage.

Alexander Dalrymple, an eminent member of the Royal Society, and one who possessed accurate knowledge of astronomy and had distinguished himself by inquiries into the geography of the Southern Oceans, was selected to head the expedition. He realized, however, that it would be impossible to carry out such an enterprise without having sufficient authority to maintain discipline among the crew. He, therefore, refused to undertake the assignment until he was given a brevet commission as captain of the vessel.

Sir Edward Hawke, who was at that time head of the British Admiralty, was staunch in his opinion that such a commission could not be granted to one who had not been trained as a seaman. He could not be moved from this position by any amount of argument or persuasion, and as Mr. Dalrymple was equally adamant in his contention that he would not make the trip without the commission, they dead-locked.

Another Leader Chosen.

Finally, James Cook, who had served in the royal navy and who had made a considerable study of mathematics and astronominal navigation, was suggested. He was heartily endorsed by his former commanding officer and accordingly was appointed to take command of the expedition, with the rank of lieutenant in the royal navy. His commission was dater May 25, 1768, and a ship was finally selected and called the Endeavor. It was decided that Port Royal Harbour on the island of Otaheite was an excellent place for making the observation and on July 26, 1768, the party set sail with this point as their objective.

After a while it was found necessary to stop some place for supplies, and Cook, feeling sure of a friendly reception at Rio de Janeiro, made for this port. He found, somewhat to his consternation, however, that the viceroy was inclined to be a little haughty or upstage. He appeared to be little interested in science or in this particular expedition.

The party stayed there for a short time, though, and obtained the supplies which could not be refused them. Finally they again started on their journey, but to their amazement when they came abreast of Santa Cruz two shots were fired at them. Cook immediately sent to ascertain what it was all about and was informed by the officers in charge that they had received no authority from the viceroy to permit them to leave the harbor. The viceroy, upon being questioned, said that the order had been written several days before but had not been transmitted through some "unaccountable negligence."

This matter being more or less satisfactorily adjusted the explorers proceeded on their journey and eventually landed at Port Royal Bay, as planned. Before making a landing, Cook drafted a set of rules for all dealings with the natives. It was realized that the friendship of the natives was of importance. Certain members of the party were to be appointed to conduct all trading transactions with them, and under no circumstances was any trading to be done by anyone else.

The natives proved to be friendly and watched with interest the landing and preparation for constructing a fort. One incident on the first day, however, came near to marring this friendliness. Cook had ordered that a tent be pitched, and while he and some of the rest of the party set out upon an excursion into the nearby woods a guard of 13 marines was left with a petty officer in charge.

One Indian, who was perhaps a little more curious, watched his chance and snatched a sentry's musket. The officer in charge immediately ordered the marines to fire. They accordingly opened fire upon the hundred or more Indians. Fortunately the culprit was the only one injured.

Upon hearing the firing Cook hastily returned and upon learning what the trouble was, reprimanded the officer for his order. The natives were placated and things again moved along smoothly.

A Bad Butcher.

All during the stay of the party on this island Cook was meticulously careful that the Indians should realize that at all times the white visitors were anxious to be fair. An interesting incident occurred which showed the natives, unlike so many in the South Sea Islands, were not only friendly but actually tender-hearted. The ship's butcher had undertaken to make a trade with one of the native women, even though this was strictly

BAXTER BILL IS PASSED BY LOWER HOUSE

Ohio Representatives Approve Measure, 97 to 18.

SHORT SESSION

Leaders Predict No Additional Legislative Action.

COLUMBUS, Jan. 15.—In less than 30 minutes after the Baxter bill, affording relief for financially distressed taxing units in Ohio was sent to the senate by the house, the upper branch of the Ohio legislature in special one-day session passed the bill by a vote of 27 to 6.

COLUMBUS, Jan. 15.—By a vote of 97 to 18 the lower house of the Ohio general assembly today passed the Baxter bill providing for relief of financially distressed taxing units throughout the state.

The vote on the emergency clause was 99 to 10.

Representative Gordon did not vote, because of his prejudice toward the special one-day session.

It was revealed the voting was of a non-partisan nature. A few Republicans voting against the bill and the Democrats splitting their votes both for and against.

The house then messaged the gill to the senate and recessed until 2 p. m.

Speaker Taft called the house to order again at 11:18 at which time the house taxation committee's report recommending passage of the Baxter bill was presented.

On motion of Representative Dempsey, chairman of the committee, the house suspended the rule requiring that bills be read on three separate days, and immediately took the bill for third reading on the question of passage.

their worries. The year just closed is the worst for trade in Britain's modern history, the balance being almost two billions of dollars against the British. Forty-five million additional pounds of imports, a loss of thirty-three million pounds of exports, make the British unhappy. But they "muddle" through in the British way, and will come out on top.

Uncle Sam is riding along on velvet. Severe competition abroad in the world's markets at home is said to be ahead for our producers. But everything, including Providence seems to be with us now.

In real estate, conditions throughout the country are astounding. Frederick Brown, of New York, perhaps the biggest real estate operator in the world, was called reckless two or three years ago when he said:

"Real estate values in big cities are more in the air than on the ground, henceforth a 12-story building in New York must be considered a 'taxpayer,' waiting to be torn down to make way for a real building."

Now they tear down 17 and 19-story hotels to make room for 40 and 50-story buildings. When you buy the ground and the air above it, the air is more valuable than the land.

for the clerk of the municipal court, was also adopted.

The solons also gave their approval to a resolution authorizing the service-safety director to accept the proposal of the county commissioners to use a steam shovel to grade and widen north Dresden avenue to the city limits. This street is part of the Youngstown-East Liverpool inter-county highway which will be improved during the coming year.

Councilman Farrall declared he was opposed to increasing city expenses unless he knew where the money was coming from. He claimed that there was a deficit in the street maintenance fund owing to improvements made last sumer, and these bills must be paid from the automobile license and gas tax funds.

J. W. Moore, who assumes the office of Service-Safety director tomorrow, told the solons that money to meet these bills would be available early in February from funds received through license fees.

Shortage in Funds Looms.

Councilman Hayes urged the Dresden avenue improvement, declaring this to be "the opportunity of our life." Solon Herrington said that the street was "one of the most miserable thoroughfares in the state" and that it was "a disgrace." He asked that the offer of the county commissioners to furnish a steam shovel to do the grading if the city would furnish men and teams to move the dirt would mean a saving of about $6,500 for the city. Councilman Poole also expressed approval of the plan.

Upon roll call the ordinance was passed unanimously.

Auditor William McGraw, speaking for the finance committee, warned council that there would be a shortage in both the safety and service funds in 1926. He said that the appropriation for the safety fund this year was $32,378 as compared to $39,883.78 available last year, a difference of more than $7,500. In 1925, $32,552.21 was received from the service fund, while but $27,472 will be available this year, or, in other words, a shortage of $5,000.

Change Meeting Nights

Elwyn Shenkel, asked for a hose reel and fire hose for Pleasant Heights. He said that residents would be able to keep fires under control pending the arrival of the downtown companies if the equipment were furnished. Council promised to consider the suggestion in their next appropriation.

Upon motion of Councilman Farrall council changed their meeting night from the second and fourth Thursdays of each month to the first and third Thursdays.

The solons referred the claim of R. G. Boyd for a reduction in street assessments on a lot in St. George street to the solicitor for investigation. Action upon the claim will be taken to at the next meeting of the legislators.

High School Band In Feature Program At Ceramic Theatre

The 55-piece high school band, a feature attraction at the Ceramic theatre for the second half of the week, scored a big hit last night, when a novel program was presented in connection with the showing of Rin-Tin-Tin, the wonder dog, in the thrilling photoplay, "Find Your Man."

Twenty per cent of the gross receipts last night, today and tomorrow will be given to the band, which is under the direction of Prof. Ralph Johnson.

Feature offerings last night were a saxophone solo by Ted Tatgenhorst and selections by a girls' quartet, three cornetists and a trombone player.

The bill is a surprise musical act, and was enthusiastically received at the opening of the three-day engagement.

SIN DISCUSSED BY EVANGELIST

"Saved From the Pit," Topic of Sermon by Rev. W. A. Knapp.

"Saved From the Pit," was the topic on which Rev. W. A. Knapp, Westerville evangelist, spoke Thursday night in the First Methodist Protestant Church.

"Conviction of sin is a great blessing," said Rev. Knapp. "It is not the devil's work to convict, but the work of the Holy Spirit. God will take away peace from the saved man who sins. Doubt is injected by the Devil.

"Sin has always been rampant. Church folk talk about their 'little white sins' but they are as black as the devil can make them. The disease of sin is in the blood of man. The fact, alone, that a man murders does not make him a murderer—he is a murderer at heart and has been. The nature of man is depraved and totally so. All men have gone astray because of the cancer of inherent wickedness. Unless sin is cured by the blood of Christ, we will go down to Hell. Sin is the most hideous thing in the universe. God created Hell as a place into which He could pour the putrid rottenness of sin and cap it up forever. Hell was not made for man and if one should go there, he will suffer remorse throughout eternity because he neglected to receive God's salvation. God will take us out of the pit of corruption and deliver us. The love of God reaches every case, no matter how deep that sin of yours may be. God loves every sinner, even the one guilty of the blackest sin. His love will save you if you submit yourself to Him."

During the song service which preceded the sermon, Prof. R. E. Kauffman sang one of his own compositions, "Jesus Will Satisfy You." Misses Ruth Brookes and Freda McConnell sang, "I'm a Pilgrim."

Tomorrow evening's program will be in charge of the children of the church, under the direction of Prof. Kauffman.

Widow Held For Murder

with pancakes and coffee for Christy's breakfast.

"I have now told you everything; do whatever you want with me,' the woman said between sobs.

Mrs. Christy was remanded to jail and Prosecuting Attorney Brookes notified of the alleged confession.

The police then went to the Christy home in East End to search for the poison which Mrs. Christy said she had left on the table. She explained, however, that the box may have been knocked on the floor and burned with papers which she had gathered up before she left the place Wednesday morning after her husband was taken to the hospital.

Police confiscated a trunk of clothes and other personal effects, belonging to Mr. Christy, which they brought to city hall.

When Prosecutor Brookes arrived at the city hall, the accused was again questioned in the presence of a stenographer. Police say she repeated the story given them earlier in the afternoon.

Married Five Times.

The woman admitted that she had been married four times and lived five years with a "common law husband" before she married Christy, police asserted.

Her first husband, according to story given the police, was Jesse Sears, whom she married at the age of 18 years. She was unable to say how long she had lived with him, but declared he had died from natural causes. Her next husband was George Holt, also of East Liverpool, who also died a natural death, she said. Mrs. Christy, police charge, then admitted she lived with another man whose name she furnished, now deceased, for five years but said they were never legally married.

Mrs. Christy, according to the police, next went to Athens, N. Y., where she married Frederick Harmon. After living with him four years, she discovered that he was her cousin and then she left him. In another statement, she is purported to have said she left Harmon because of trouble with his children by a former marriage.

She then came back to East Liverpool where she married John Ebert, who died in Newell, Nov. 7, last. Ebert, according to Dr. C. R. Campbell, Chester, who attended him, contracted a congestion of the chest and mumps. Dr. Campbell called on him three or four times and he apparently recovered. Two days later the physician learned that his patient had died. Ebert's body was buried in Locust Hill cemetery, near Chester, on Nov. 9, 1925.

Withdrew $200 From Bank.

Prosecutor Brookes questioned Mrs. Christy about $200 in cash which she is alleged to have withdrawn from an East End banking institution on Wednesday morning after her husband was taken to the hospital.

The woman is alleged to have declared that her husband had turned the money over to her following their marriage and that she had purchased a new trunk for $15, a traveling bag for $1, silverware for $10, clothes and shoes costing about $50, a bracelet costing $3.50, a necklace, and also some dresses and other clothing for children of Mrs. George Crawford, Erie street, East End, who, she claimed, is her cousin. She had less than $30 in her purse, but was unable to account for nearly $100 of the money which she had drawn from the bank.

Christy had $400 on deposit when he came here recently from Akron. Of this money he, himself, spent $100, she said. She withdrew another $200, leaving $100 on deposit.

According to statements the woman is alleged to have made to the police, she met Christy at the Crawford home on the evening of Monday, January 4. That same evening he proposed marriage, she said, and they were married in Beaver, Pa., on the following day, January 5. Since their marriage the couple had been living in a two-room house, near Laughlin pottery, which Christy purchased early in December for $50.

Denies Poisoning Newell Man

Repeatedly Prosecutor Brookes and the police sought to wring an admission from Mrs. Christy that the poison had been administered without the knowledge of her husband, but she reiterated her denials. "I gave it to him because he asked me," she would cry out.

"You gave it to him telling him it was baking powder and that it would relieve the pain in his stomach," Captain Conley told her.

"No, no, I didn't" she replied. "He made me give it to him to get me into trouble, I think," she said.

"Did you kill Mr. Ebert?" she was asked.

"No, I didn't. Dr. Campbell, of Chester, attended him. The medicine which had been prescribed did not agree with him and he died."

Prosecutor Brookes questioned her as to where she had obtained the arsenic. She replied that she had purchased it from a Diamond drug store from "an old man." The druggist referred to, was summoned to the city hall and Mrs. Christy identified him.

"I never saw this woman before," the druggist said. I haven't sold arsenic during the last two months and I am positive I never sold it to this woman at any time."

The woman was then taken into another room and questioned by Chief McDermott and Prosecutor Brookes behind closed doors.

Pleads Not Guilty.

Mrs. Christy was then taken to the municipal courtroom, where Judge Hanley read the murder charge.

"Are you giulty or not guilty?" the judge asked.

"I don't know what to say," she said. "I was never in trouble before. I didn't mean to poison my husband."

"You can plead not guilty and let the grand jury investigate your case," she was told.

"Well, I guess that will be all right," she replied.

She was immediately taken to Lisbon by Deputy Sheriff Lawrence Kindsvatter.

Find Certificate of Ordination.

In Mr. Christy's personal effects, yesterday, police found a suitcase filled with song books and other literature, issued by the United States Missionary Workers of the United States of America. The national officers of the organization shown on the letter head, are: Carl W. Christy, son of the victim, general-in-chief; Rev. William Christy, the alleged poison victim, brigadier-general, and A. M. Christy, another son, a resident of Akron, national treasurer. Names of two other Akron people are also given on the letter heads. National headquarters are at 151 Cutler Place, Park Way, East Akron.

In his trunk were also found articles of incorporation issued by the secretary of state to the Christian Assembly Missionary association, 237 Bauer building, Akron, on November 30, 1921. Mr. Christy was one of the five incorporators. Another certificate issued by the United Christian Missionary Workers, showing Mr. Christy to have been ordained an elder on November 22, 1922, was also found. There were many photographs of children, believed to be grandchildren of the deceased.

Unless a special session of the grand jury is called, Mrs. Christy's case will not be investigated until the April term of court.

Believe Woman Mentally Unbalanced.

Mr. Christy is said to have two sons and two daughters. The two daughters nad one of the sons reside in Akron. The other son, Carl W. Christy, is said to have lived with his father here, but left Saturday for St. Louis, Mo., where he was to take charge of the Missouri headquarters of the United Christian Missionary Workers of the United States of America.

Police immediately telegraphed him today, advising of his father's death.

Police declare that the woman was preparing to leave for Cleveland Thursday morning. She admitted yesterday that she had planned to go to Cleveland after her husband's funeral.

The authorities today expressed the opinion that Mrs. Christy is mentally unbalanced.

"The unpardonable sin is not adultery, although it is a great sin. It is a four-fold sin against the individual, the family, society and God. If America goes to the devil, it will go there over the sin of impurity. Over the door of every church, home and school should be written the five words, 'Thou shalt not commit adultery.' No one can break this commandment and escape hell and it applies to a millionaire as much as it applies to a hobo."

against the rules laid down by the leader of the expedition. Not having much luck in his trade he threatened the woman. Cook, hearing of this, had the man brought before the tribe and after holding an informal trial which showed no doubt of the butcher's guilt, sentenced him to be tied to a tree and lashed. At the first lash the natives protested and begged that the punishment not be continued. When, in the interest of justice, their pleas were disregarded many wept in sympathy for the suffering of the wretch.

The party received a slight scare and for a little while it seemed that perhaps the trip was to be fruitless. This was when it was discovered one morning that the astronomical quadrant had been taken from the tent where it had been stored. It was finally found, however, and one June 3, the sun rose without a cloud so that the observation of the transit of Venus over the sun's disk was made successfully.

Although this observation was the main object of the expedition a great deal more of importance was accomplished. Six months of the return trip were spent in charting the coast of New Zealand, which had not been visited by Europeans for more than a century. The eastern coast of Australia was examined and named New South Wales, and the entire separation of Australia from New Guinea was determined.

Cook returned to England in 1771 where the great importance of his geographic work on this voyage was instantly recognized. He was promoted to the rank of commander and appointed to organize a new expedition for the discovery of the imaginary Terre Australis Incognita.

It costs an average of $334.64 a year to maintain a pauper in the United States.

It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Jesse D. Holloway and Druggists Everywhere.

against the rules laid down by the leader of the expedition. Not having much luck in his trade he threatened the woman. Cook, hearing of this, had the man brought before the tribe and after holding an informal trial which showed no doubt of the butcher's guilt, sentenced him to be tied to a tree and lashed. At the first lash the natives protested and begged that the punishment not be continued. When, in the interest of justice, their pleas were disregarded many wept in sympathy for the suffering of the wretch.

The party received a slight scare and for a little while it seemed that perhaps the trip was to be fruitless. "BIBLE" TOPIC OF EVANGELIST

Rev. E. D. Murch Speaker at Christian Church.

Evangelist E. D. Murch, of East Palestine, who is conducting revival services in the First Christian church here, last night addressed a large congregation on the theme, "The Bible; Is It Mere Literature or Is It the Inspired Word of God?"

Interest is increasing daily in the services, which were launched recently.

Rev. Murch cited many incidents recorded in the scriptures wherein, had the record been the work of man, it would have differed greatly, "man protecting the character of those who were his friends and those whom he loved, while God, through his inspired writers, holds up to the world all the faults and imperfections of his chosen leaders as well as their good and rightous acts, delineating in full the character of those chosen to work out the plan of salvation.

"The Bible needs no defense," declared Rev. Murch. "It is written in a language all can understand and if in the study of any portion of it four points of it are borne in mind, it will become self interpreting. The points are: Who is speaking? To whom is it spoken? For what purpose it is spoken? Under what dispensation is it spoken?

Rev. Murch's subject tonight will be, "An Example of Living Faith."

His Saturday night topic will be "The Grace of Giving and the Grace of Receiving."

SERMON GIVEN ON "BAPTISM"

Rev. B. R. Johnson Speaks at Christian Church Services

Rev. B. R. Johnson, pastor of the First Church of Christ, spoke last night in the Pennsylvania Avenue Church of Christ. His subject was "The Meaning of Baptism."

He spoke in part as follows: "The Disciples have been accused of being "water salvationists." We recognize no authority but that of Christ. Jesus commanded baptism. Scholars of all religious bodies recognize that immersion was the original form practiced by Jesus and the early church.

The pope changed the form from immersion to sprinkling in the year 1311. The college of bishops of the Episcopal church changed the form for that church early in the 17th century. When the vote was taken there were 24 for immersion and 24 for sprinkling. Dr. Lightfoot, presiding chairman, cast the deciding vote for sprinkling. The Disciples respect only the authority of Christ.'

This evening Rev. Johnson will have as his subject "The Final Judgment." Prof. Green of Bethany college will preach Sunday morning. At the afternoon services Rev. Johnson will speak on "A Woman's Fall." This meeting will be for women only. The final sermon of the series will be given Sunday evening on the subject, "The Origin of Protestantism."

Six-Club City Industrial Baseball Circuit Is Re-Organized

Hall China Awarded Franchise Vacated By Babcock-Wilcox

Priority Rights of China Makers Recognized by League in Action on Berth Held Last Season by East Enders; C. C. Cline, 1925 President of Loop, Presides at Harmonious Session.

WITH representatives of five clubs present, foundation plans for reorganization of the City Industrial Baseball league were laid at a conference of league officials and team managers last night in the chamber of commerce rooms in the Little building.

Four important decisions were reached by the session.

1. The circuit, in all probability, will consist of six clubs, the same number of teams that gave the East Liverpool, Chester, Newell and Wellsville district a successful season last year.

2. Hall China was awarded the franchise and players of the Babcock & Wilcox club, of East End.

3. All players who performed in the circuit last season will be the property of the teams with which they finished the campaign.

4. Any changes that may be necessary in team personnel must be made by regularly approved trades and deals between clubs.

Only one of the clubs of the 1925 campaign was not represented. Manager John Fowler, of Trotters, who, however, is expected to produce a formidable entry as he did last season, was unable to attend the conference.

Mayor Frank Riley, of Chester, represented the 1925 league champions; Joseph Dickey and Sol McCoy handled affairs of the Newell Laughlin team; Jack Bowers was Knowles, Taylor and Knowles' delegate; O. O. Pearch filled Wellsville's entry, and Dave Buzzard and George Wucherer submitted Hall China's request for a berth in the Ceramic City organization.

C. C. Cline, who, as president of the circuit in 1925, was a big factor in producing one of the most successful East Liverpool district leagues in years, presided as temporary chairman, with T. T. Jones, the league statistican, as secretary.

Harmony was the keynote of the meeting. League managers and officials indicated a desire to keep from stepping on the other fellows' toes.

Under the skillful direction of presiding officers, affairs of the inaugural conference were guided safely over the preliminary stages although the meet developed a brisk bidding for the franchise vacated by Babcock & Wilcox.

Vincent McGeehan, who last year piloted the East End combine, announced the action of the brick makers in retiring from the circuit.

Dave Buzzard and George Wucherer, of Hall China, and Joe Dickey, of Newell, went after the berth, with the teapot makers' representatives landing the plum. Dickey intended to place a Laughlin club in the East End sector and if he had landed the franchise would undoubtedly be able to put a first class crew in the field there.

Priority rights, however, proved the deciding factor. League officials recalled that representatives of the Hall China plant had entered a request for the first vacant franchise in the league, at the banquet and meeting which wound up the 1925 season. They ruled, therefore, that Buzzard and Wucherer should be given prior consideration and the league voted to this effect. Mr. Buzzard, the father of Raymond, former local player who is now the property of the Cleveland Indians, promised to make rival clubs step for the 1926 pennant.

With the franchise went the players and all property of the Babcock & Wilcox aggregation.

Comparative merits of six and eight-club circuits were discussed, the general opinion being that the league as it was last year could hardly be improved upon, in the matter of enlargement, at least, because of the fact that practically every baseball player of sufficient talent to qualify for the brand of ball dished up by the organization is a member of the loop now.

In order to form an eight-club circuit, it would be necessary to import players, and the consensus of opinion was that, in the scramble that probably would follow, one of the chief objects of the league would be lost sight of. To as great an extent as possible, the league attempts to foster district athletics and use home players, except in cases where it is impossible to obtain the caliber of performer sought, and these are not many.

Recognizing the fact that readjustments will naturally be sought by various clubs before the start of the season, as a result of the removal of employes from one plant to another during the off-season, the league will be ready to make provisions for trades and deals. It is not the plan of the organization to encourage promiscuous transfers, but it will aid in shifting about players where the occasion demands. These changes probably will not be sanctioned until after the definite formation of the circuit, inasmuch as players are still the property of the club with which they finished last fall.

The organization got off to a flying start at last night's conference, clearing away a number of important matters at an early stage, and leaving the way open for a mature consideration of financial problems.

The league will hold its next conference on Thursday night, Jan. 21, in the chamber of commerce rooms.

ST. STEPHENS STOPS M. E. FIVE

Downtown Passers Win After Great Finish.

A whirlwind finish sent the Penna. Ave. M. E. tossers down to defeat before the onslaught of the St. Stephens five in a Sunday school circuit clash on the St. Stephens floor last night. The score was 27 to 18.

The game, during the earlier periods, was a slow listless affair, the first quarter ending with the score 2 to 1 in the East End lads' favor, McKim caging a basket, and Barnhart making good on a free toss.

In the second period the game looked more like a basketball battle and the St. Stephens lads were in the lead by the score of 7 to 6 at the end of the first half.

Both teams continued to struggle diligently in the third quarter, and the score fluctuated throughout the period, the St. Stephens passers leading by a 13 to 12 count at the finish.

H. Rose was the first to score in the final quarter, making good on a toss, tying up the score. Pollock caged a basket, putting the St. Stephens lads in the lead. The lead changed hands again when H. Rose tossed one in on a foul line shot and Staley heaved one through for a double pointer. Manypenny, on a pass from Pollock shot the ball through for a double decker. Staley tied the score up for the East End lads with a foul goal. At this stage of the contest, the game for the first time, began to get interesting, winding up with a whirl wind finish by St. Stephens that crushed the hopes of the East End passers. Pollock found the basket for St. Stephens, puting them in the lead. Dyer came through with another one, making the lead still bigger. Manypenny boosted it two points. Staley made good on a foul line chance. Pollock and Dyer made the game safe for St. Stephens when they caged the last two baskets of the contest. Manypenny, Dyer and Pollock were the leading performers for St. Stephens and H. Rose, McKim and Heith led the East End lads.

The First Presbyterian Juniors massacred the Christian Juniors in the preliminary tilt by the score of 66 to 4. Lineup and summary.

Highs Tackle Salem Quint Here Tonight

Leadership of County Scholastic Conference at Stake in Clash Between Foremost Teams; Locals Anticipate Stiff Tussle With Pittsburg Fifth Avenue Squad Saturday.

SALEM high school basketball teams, scheduled to face the Blue and White squads tonight on the local court, are anticipating two of the toughest games on their 1925 card.

And Coach Lorah's lads, who have yet to be defeated by a scholastic combine, are looking for nothing easy in their third county conference clash. The locals have copped two county engagements in a row, topping East Palestine and Lisbon, and a victory over the Red and Black would give them undisputable leadership.

The Salem-East Liverpool clashes headline the county schedule this week. East Palestine will be in action at Columbiana and Lisbon will play at Wellsville.

Salem and East Liverpool fives at present are tied for leadership in the conference, although the north countians have played only one game, winning from Wellsville.

Salem girls, undefeated up until present time, anticipate another conquest tonight. Any championship visions the locals might have entertained at the outset of the season have been dissipated by two consecutive defeats and it is likely the Blue and White sextet will leave the field clear for the Salem-Lisbon battle, for between these two teams it is probable the real contest will develop. Lisbon has won from both East Liverpool and Columbiana and, consequently, has an excellent start to title honors.

The engagement tonight with Salem is but one of two hard battles listed for the Ceramic City quint.

Tomorrow Lorah's charges will tackle Fifth Avenue High, of Pittsburgh, here. It will be the first appearance of the Pennsylvanians here in a number of years and the clash is expected to prove a real attraction. The Saturday games will be played earlier than usual, to permit the Pittsburghers to make train connections home. The preliminary will get under way at 6:45 and the main go at 7:45.

Here are statistics on the county race to date:

Boys:—	G.	W.	L.
East Liverpool	2	2	0
Salem	1	1	0
Lisbon	2	1	1
East Palestine	1	0	1
Wellsville	1	0	1

Girls:—	G.	W.	L.
Lisbon	2	2	0
Salem	1	1	0
East Palestine	1	1	0
Columbiana	1	0	1
Wellsville	1	0	1
East Liverpool	2	0	2

SAFETY DRIVE IS LAUNCHED

Series of Suggestions Prepared by State Mine Inspector.

To aid the state-wide safety campaign which opened today, R. M. Lambie, state mine inspector, has prepared a series of suggestions to be submitted to the coal operators of the state through their associations. These suggestions, eight in number, are:

First — Pledge each employe in writing to faithfully observe the mining laws and the mining rules and regulations.

Second—Organize a safety club consisting of all employes at the mine and select therefrom a safety committee consisting of five employes whose duty it shall be to aid the mine authorities in the enforcement of all safety regulations.

Third—Hold at least one meeting a month of the safety club when the dangers incident to mining can be stressed by local or visiting speakers.

Fourth—Hold weekly meetings of mine officials, superintendents, foremen, assistant foremen, fire bosses, etc., to discuss safety measures.

Fifth—In many instances the local school in the mining community can be utilized to stimulate interest. When boys and girls are interested, they carry that interest into the home.

Sixth—In every mining community there should be an active head to this safety work. Some companies have welfare agents who direct this work. It has been found that where responsibility is lodged in an individual rather than distributed among several, better results are obtained.

Seventh—Trophies or prizes awarded to those who make and maintain the lowest accident records have been found to stimulate and maintain interest.

Eighth—The district mine inspector, or the safety director, will visit the mine and explain in detail the various suggestions that are being made to reduce the number of mining accidents and personally solicit the cooperation of the mine authorities.

Eugene O'Brien Has Lead in "Graustark," At The American

"The typical Americans."

This was the title bestowed upon Eugene O'Brien by Dimitri Buchowetzki, celebrated European director, in choosing O'Brien for the leading role in "Graustark," Norma Talmadge's new starring production made by Joseph M. Schenck for First National.

As Grenfall Lorry, young American adventurer, O'Brien has a typical role in McCutcheon's charming old-world romance.

There are not ten actors in the United States who could play the part satisfactorily, Buchowetzki claims.

"Graustark" presents Norma Talmadge once more in a young romantic role, following the tremendous success of "The Lady" and "Secrets," both of which were character parts. The new picture is expected to add fresh laurels to Miss Talmadge's motion picture career.

It presents her as Princess Yetive of the mythical kingdom of Graustark, situated in the mountainous south of Europe. Although surrounded by old-world conventions, she manages to break through and, with the aid of O'Brien, win her way to happiness.

The picture is booked for the American for a three-day run commencing Monday.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain How To Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestents are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

Woman Found Dead.

BUCYRUS, O., Jan. 14.—An accumulation of mail in the postman's box at the residence of Mrs. John Eberth, 66, led to an investigation by neighbors which resulted in finding the lifeless body of the aged woman lying in her bed. It was apparent she had been dead three or four days.

BELASCO HIT HERE JAN. 28

New York Cast Will Present "Ladies of Evening."

David Belasco's production, "Ladies of the Evening," one of the brightest comedy dramas that has ever left the studio of that famous producer, is the attraction scheduled for the presentation at the Ceramic theatre Thursday, January 28, for one night only.

It is intensely realistic in character and, staged with that consummate skill of Belasco, it brings the audience momentarily into the life that it depicts. There are times when one fairly gasps at the daring of the producer, but so cleverly and delicately handled are the scenes that none can take offense at them. There is no nakedness or immorality to be found in it. There is merely the broad painting of the lives of those vendors of love who are to be found in every community and their methods of enticing victims. The author has not neglected the lighter touches.

Several of the scenes are filled with mirth provoking episodes that elicit hearty laughter from the audience. Everywhere in the piece is found that artistic excellence for which the name of David Belasco is a synonym.

The staging of the play is on a par with all the other pieces Belasco has sent on the road from his wonderful studio and this one comes with the entire cast and stage settings from the Lyceum theatre, New York, where it had a season's successful run.

Former Sheriff Under Bond Pending Trial On Serious Charge

MARION, O. — Under $1,000 bond pending trial, Frank A. Washburn, former sheriff of Marion county, today reiterated his plea of innocence in connection with an embezzlement charge brought by his employers, Lutz Bros. Fruit Co.

Washburn surrendered to Sheriff Deal when detectives hired by Lutz Bros. claimed they had unearthed defalcations in Washburn's accounts totalling $2,700.

The specific charge on which Washburn was arraigned was that he embezzled $138.45 of Lutz Bros. funds entrusted to his care as manager of the Findlay branch.

JAPANESE TURN TO CHESTNUT IN FOOD PLAN

Fifteen Million Trees to be Set Out In Nippon

RICE SUBSTITUTE

More Nutritious Than White or Sweet Potatoes.

TOKYO.—The humble, but highly nutritive chestnut, is to be called upon to solve Japan's food problem if Prof. Kai Iriya, head of the forest affairs section of the department of agriculture and forestry, has his say.

Prof. Iriya is sponsoring a plan to plant 150,000,000 chestnut trees in all parts of Japan. By so doing, he declares, the nation will be able to produce sufficient food to obivate the necessity of importing staple foodstuffs from abroad.

Utilize Unused Land.

Under Prof. Iriya's scheme about 1,000 chestnut trees would be planted on each two and one-half acres of land allotted to the propect. They would be planted along the banks of rivers, in hills and vacant lots so as to decrease the area of land cultivated for other purposes.

"I am confident that the food problem of the country can be solved by this plan to an extent that it would not be necessary any longer to import rice from abroad," Prof. Iriya said. "At present Japan is importing from 15,000,000 to 25,000,000 bushels of rice each year at a cost of more than $50,000,000 and this is very serious factor in the trade balance of the nation.

"The price of chestnuts at present is high because so few are produced. I have made an investigation and have found that as long as 1,300 years ago the chestnut was grown extensively in Japan and was a favorite food of the people. The introduction of potatoes and other vegetables from western lands, however gradually crowded out the growing of chestnuts and the trees were allowed to die.

Found Nuturitious.

"I have had my food experts make a comparative study of white potatoes, sweet potatoes and chestnuts as regards their nutritive value and have found that chestnuts are far more nutritious than the others. The Japanese people like chestnuts and these nuts, mixed with rice, always have been a favorite food in this country. If more will be cheaper nad the people as a whole will be able to eat them in greater quantities."

Prof. Iriya will present his plan to Seiji Hayami, the minister of agriculture and forestry, and ask his department chief to endeavor to obtain government air and sanction for it.

Investigating Story.

BRIDGEPORT, O., Jan. 14.—Police today were investigating a story told by Lee Woods, 14, of Scotch Ridge, to the effect that moonshiners kidnaped him and hauled him several miles to an abandoned sawmill near Colerain where they threatened him with death if he told the location of their illicit still which he accidentally ran into while playing.

In some sections of Italy bread is made of chestnuts. Some humorists in this country make their bread from the same material.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Company, Atlanta, Ga. (adv.)

SPECIAL LEVIES ON TAX BOOKS

Assessments Placed on Duplicate Largest in Years.

There was due an payable at the December tax collecting period $215,425.50 in delinquent and special assessments, according to records just compiled in the office of County Auditor Charles E. Hamilton. This is the largest amount of special assessments placed on the duplicate in years. The special assessments have to do with street lighting and sewer improvements, and in one instance, that of Columbiana corporation, the special assessment is for street sprinkling purposes.

Township and road district special assessments have been listed on the tax duplicate as follows:

Goshen township school district $2,019.26; Knox township $2,609; Perry township, $195.68; Salem township, $3,088.34; Washington township $1,689.67; West township, $11,167.74. The total of these special assessments is $20,769.69.

Municipal special assessments total $149,658.17, and have been divided among the following districts: Lisbon corporation, $12,077.36; Columbiana corporation, $20,094.97; East Liverpool city, $50,519.15; Salem city, $39,620.54; Leetonia corporation, $551.74; New Waterford corporation, $265.62; East Palestine corporation, $16,234.37; Salineville corporation, $2,604.85; Wellsville city $7,689.57.

The county debt special assessment is placed at $17,119.66 and the special county road assessment totals $27,877.98.

Laxity in the payment of these assessments in the past has caused authorities to levy a special millage in order to take care of bonds which were issued for certain improvements in anticipation of the collection of assessments. Had it been possible to collect the assessments semi-annually, the tax rate in a number of districts would now be lower. The bonds are paid for from the sinking fund, and this fund must always be kept up to a point where all bonds are paid for, also interest, when either become due.

There has been more activity in the payment of these special assessments this year than ever before, the assessments being collected by County Treasurer Jo Pike when property tax is collected. Practically no opposition has been offered to the payment of the special assessments, and the tax against the property is not received unless the special assessments against that particular property is also paid at the same time.

FIRESTONE BANK NAMES DIRECTORS

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Firestone bank, Lisbon, the following board of directors were elected: J. Frank Adams, Attorney C. C. Connell, W. J. Binsley, Ross W. Firestone, Leland Firestone, William Lyder and George A. Rogers. The board organized by electing R. W. Firestone president and C. C. Connell vice president and counsel.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Peoples Saving bank of Lisbon will be held later in the month.

LAWYER SPEAKS AT KIWANIS MEET

Attorney C. C. Connell, who visited in northern Arizona last year was the speaker at the noon meeting of the Lisbon Kiwanis club Thursday, when he described the snake dance of the Hopi Indians of Arizona.

Mr. Connell had to travel about 150 miles by stage over a rugged country to witness this event. He described in detail how this tribe prepared for the dance, and of the antics of those who participated. The dance is an ancient custom with this tribe, and those who take part in it are dressed in all Indian splendor.

AUDIT IS SOUGHT IN COURT PETITION

Failure to permit one of its stockholders to examine its books and records upon request, an action has been filed in common pleas court by Attorney H. W. Hammond, of Columbiana in behalf of Zora E. Johnson, as administrator of the estate of A. L. Johnson, deceased and against the Allied Oil Co., with principal offices in Columbiana.

The petition asks that the court issue a mandatory injunction against the company, which will permit an audit of its records.

Static!!

There's odes been written to darn near every month in the year but somehow the bards have overlooked and pointedly neglected January! They've dismissed it with scant courtesy generally making some dutty crack about it being cold and full of snow. I happened to mention this to my friend (?) Shorty, and while he's not as literary as a lot of other people I know, he advised that for this week we get together on a poem dedicated to JANUARY. It's taken lots of sweat and ink and dictionary thumbing to roll this out but here it is:

January, the month of vows and bills,
"Tum" aches dour and headache pills,
You every year find me involved
In money problems hard to solve.

My Christmas spirit, bold and rash,
Puts wings to all my ready cash.
And on my nose a grindstone stuck,
Doggone you, Jan.! You're sure hard luck.

JOHN CARNAHAN.

Shorty Says:

The only trouble with that poem I helped Jack on was that he didn't take time to finish it. There ought to be a third verse to it. I wrote this myself and want ENTIRE credit.

But tho' there's months I hold much dearer,
Your days bring spring just that much nearer.
So while your ornery thro' and thro'—
Doggone it, I must stand for you.

There's some REAL poetry! Anybody want to write the 4th verse? Send 'em in.

METHUSELAH'S WIFE

THE STORY OF A GIRL — By EDGAR POE NORRIS — WHO MARRIED FOR MONEY

© CENTRAL PRESS ASS'N

FORTY-NINE.

Her heart was beating so furiously that it seemed Wyman Holt must hear it and know how he had disturbed her; but Laurel, without daring to look him in the eyes, somehow managed to convey the impression that she was calm and unmoved by his question. As if her attention had been elsewhere, perhaps on the scarcely audible conversation Marion was carrying on over the telephone in the hall, she affected not to have understood him. "You must excuse me, Wyman, but I'm afraid I didn't hear what you said."

His smile sharpened. "I said that it is frequently convenient not to hear." He was still standing, and one of his hands played delicately with the fil!-gree top of the gold sugar-bowl.

Laurel raised an arm carelessly and pointed to his left: "Perhaps that chair would be more comfortable."

Wyman, smiling broadly again, made a slight bow that was a charicature, and pulled the chair close to the lounge upon which she was sitting. "You know very well what I said, but I shall repeat it. . . . Now that you have enticed me here by subterfuge, are you very, very glad to see me."

Laurel strained a little more to hear what Marion was saying, hoping that the conversation was near its end. "As always, Wyman," she said after a moment, "you are very impudent and presumptuous.

"And you, dear Laurel, are as always, charming, irresistible, clever, and yet obvious."

She wanted to say something very cutting, but al lshe could think of at the moment was, "Your conceit is as colossal as ever."

"You used to rather like me and my conceit, Laurel." He bent very close to her now. "I don't believe that all of——."

Laurel held up a warning finger; she had just heard Marion hang up the receiver. "Please, Wyman——."

He seat up in his chair and took a piece of crystalized ginger to nibble. Laurel took a clean cup and saucer from the lower shelf of the serving-wagon and poured hot tea for Marion. She determined that no telephone call or anything else shoulde place her alone with Wyman Holt again. . . . . What was keeping Marion? . . . . Some trick of her mind caused her to remember herself and Paula Yancy as eavesdroppers and she wondered if this was the explanation of the delay in Marion's return.

"Did you arrange for Marion to disappear, too?" Wyman remarked, with the same insinuating lint in his eye.

Instinctively Laurel pressed a finger to her lips, and then realized that if Marion were peeping through the door hangings she could see this sign. After a hesitant moment, she got up and went to the door, her heart pounding. She had no idea of what to do if she discovered Marion listening in. Relief suffused her when she saw Marion was not in the hall. . . . She probably had gone upstairs.

Wyman Holt rose and walked to meet her as she returned to the tea-wagon. She halted and they stood gazing at each other like two hostile animals. Impulsively he spoke out, deeply moved: "Laurel, I know how unhappy you are! How long are you going to keep up this farce?"

The woman's eyes that were upon him closed with pain, and she slowly shook her head. For a minute she stood like a statue. "Oh, Wyman, if you love me—as you say you do—please, oh, please don't persecute me like this.' As she uttered the words she had the sense of making some terrible admission.

"Then you do love me!"

She held out her arms to keep him back. "I love Noble Harwood. I am his wife. And——." She turned back toward the door, with the idea of fleeing. She had taken several steps when Marion appeared at the portal.

"Oh, I though you——" Laural began. "I—I must make a telephone call." She hurried out in the hall as Marion walked slowly toward Wyman, aroused.

"I'm all excited about the ball," he ventured, at the same time making an end of the piece of ginger that was now warm and sticky.

Preoccupied, Marion answered him mechanically, "I am too."

"Is it two early to ask for dances—all you have to spare?" he said, catching her eye.

She did not smile. "You may have the first."

Laurel, who had been having a wretched time of it in the hall, reentered the library. "I poured a warmer cup of tea for you, dear," she told Marion.

"I don't thing I want any." Marion took up a cake and nibbled at it.

Wyman extracted a cigaret case and offered it around. Laurel, still standing, declined. Marion accepted. "I thought you smoked, Laurel," he said.

"I don't care for cigarets. And besides, Noble doesn't like to have me smoke."

Marion glanced at her contemptuously and exhaled a gush of smoke as Laurel said. "I shall have to ask you two to excuse me. . . . . You must come to tea again soon, Wyman."

He bowed slightly as he arose in courtesy.

Marion watched Wyman as his eyes followed Laurel from the room. "You think a lot of Laurel ,don't you?" she asked slowly.

Wyman was equal to the occasion. "Only because she is your step-mother.' He had not seated himself and he advanced nad took her free hand. "Come take a spin on the River road with me."

Marion calmly pulled the hand free and gushed another cloud of smoke.

"No, I don't want to——." She was furious. She was sure of her suspicions; there was something between Laurel and Wyman Holt. No wonder Laurel had been so willing to invite Wyman to come here. And she herself had been foolish enough to leave them alone.

"Well, have dinner with me this evening at the country club, and go to a show?"

"No, I don't want to. . . . ." Jealousy was gnawing at her heart.

"UPSIDE-DOWN" LAND IS FOUND "EAST OF SUEZ"

Worms Sing, Fish Climb Trees, Says Explorer.

WILD WOMEN, TOO

Girls File Teeth Before Marriage in Jungles.

LONDON—A land where worms sing, birds sleep upside down, fish climb trees, and 20,000 wild women roam the swamps and jungle has just been described by Carveth Wells after a journey to unknown spots in the Malay peninsula.

The chorus of worms, according to Wells, is apt to irritate, as the tune sometimes becomes monotonous, while the fish that look down with watery eyes from their shady nooks in the trees do so reproachfully.

Nature Is Upset.

"Nature seems to have been completely upset by the absence of any marked seasons in the peninsula," says Wells. "You will find birds nesting in one tree and the same kind of birds moulting in another.

"You may have a tree in your garden with fruit on it, while the next neighbor has the same kind of tree in blossom.

"One of the Malay birds, a paroquet called Serindit, actually sleeps upside down. Another bird, the bustard quail, is peculiar because the female is bigger than the male. She lays the eggs but he sits on them. During the mating season the females do the fighting for the males.

"The Malays, and even the aborigines have their homes on the banks of the rivers or on the sea coast, with the result that the bulk of the peninsula has never been trodden by the foot of man. It is still the home of tigers, elephants, tapirs, snakes 30 feet long, insects more than a foot long, moth a foot wide, and 20,000 women.

Divorce Is Simple.

"The girls put up their hair at the age of three, and it is considered beautiful there to possess a yellow complexion. Brides have their teeth filed before marriage. The head of the family is never the wife or the husband, but the wife's eldest brother, and a married couple nearly always live with the mother-in-law. Both parties can divorce one another by saying three times in the presence of witnesses, 'I divorce thee.'

"The country is completely upside down. Crabs eat cocoanuts, fish eat coral, and rats live on the tops of tall trees."

The ex-shah of Persia denies the reports that he recently committed suicide at Marienbad. From an authentic source like that, the denial should be accepted.—Bellefontaine Examiner.

WASHINGTON.—A bee's burglar alarm is one of the government's latest contributions to science.

In novelty and intricate mechanism it undoubtedly exceeds the dream of the individual who conceived the bee's mittens or a pair of pliers for removing a gnat's eyebrows.

In connection with a study of bees and the honey industry a government scientist perfected an electrical device, placed on the doorstep of a beehive, to register the entrance and exit of the honey-makers with due precision.

Whenever a bee entered or left the hive her movements were electrically recorded on a graphic chart. It was said that this unique instrument has furnished scientists with important information relative to the honey industry.

Other Instruments.

Many other delicate instruments for measurements and scientific studies have been perfected at the United States Bureau of Standards.

For astronomical studies Dr. W. W. Coblenz has invented a radiometer by which he is able to measure the heat radiated by a candle at a distance of 100 miles. Dr. Coblenz, with this instrument, determined the heat of more than 100 stars and planets and was able to announce definitely that the temperature on the plant Mars makes possible the existence there of animal life.

Another strange device measures the salt content of the sea by comparing the electrical conductivity of samples of local ocean water with that of known standard samples.

"Such tests of deep-sea samples may indicate the proximity of icebergs, because the fresh water from a melting berg is colder and spreads as it sinks to the bottom," a government scientist explained. This device is capable of practical employment and is being used in connection with the International Iceberg Patrol, conducted by the government in co-operation with foreign nations, each year."

A master clock at the Bureau of Standards has a maximum variation of one-fifth of a second per month, so perfect is its construction. The time recorded by this clock, one of the most accurate in all the world, is checked frequently by time signals from star observations, at the national observatory.

Operation Is Sensitive.

The pendulum of invar steel runs in a vacuum case. Its operation is so sensitive that movement may be retarded by admitting air or accelerated by removing air. The clock is equipped to send an electric impulse by wire to any laboratory in the bureau every second, for the precision time service required in many researches.

Measuring appliances are often of high precision or of great ingenuity. For an unusual psyschological research a bureau expert devised and made an instrument to measure the heat evolved by a human nerve carrying an impulse.

Government scientists are exploring the atom. Research in this field has developed the necessity of measurement of the energy required to displace an electron in an atom, or remove it entirely from the atom.

"It is now known that the structure of the atoms can be learned and the frequency of radiation computed from a measurement of the energy referred to above," an expert said.

Besides "Heet" scatters the congestion and establishes a cure.

"Heet" contains two soothing, penetrating ingredients, too expensive to use in ordinary liniments or analgesics. "Heet" is a clean, pleasant liquid; doesn't stain, blister or irritate the skin and costs only 60 cents at any drug store.

SOVIET AWAITS LABOR JUNKET FROM AMERICA

Moscow Expects No Help from A. F. L. In Proposed Trip.

BANK ON VISIT

Communists Plan to Give Foreigners Every Attention.

MOSCOW, Dec. 28.—News from America that left wing labor organizations there are collecting money under the stimulus of the English Communist Purcell, to send a delegation on a tour of the Soviet Union has aroused enthusiasm in Moscow. The United States is the only important nation left which has not yet sent a labor junket to Russia, and the Bolsheviks feel that an American ideal climax to the series of calls paid this year by groups of workingmen from almost every European country.

Comment in Soviet circles is always bitter against the American Federation of Labor, and in this instance the Russians expect no collaboration from the cohorts of William Green. But the hope is expressed that, despite the hostility of the Federation toward the Soviet Union, and toward Purcell, that Purcell will be successful in inducing the radical trade unions of New York and Chicago to recognize the advantages of an official inspection of "the first workers and peasants republic."

Visit Made Pleasant.

The Communists lay a great deal of store by the visits of foreign workingmen, and no effort is spared to make their stay in Russia agreeable. Once the foreign visitors reach Russia, the government, the trade unions, the communist party and the communist international vie with one another in extending hospitality to them.

Brass bands and cheering crowds meet the delegations at every station, which are decorated with banners inscribed in the language of the visitors with messages of welcome and proletarian mottoes. In Moscow the visitors are wined and dined, carried about in the best official automobiles and lodged in the most comfortable hotel rooms.

They are addressed at banquets by the heads of the government, and have private access to the most inaccessible figures of the regime. They are supplied with passes, and permitted to go wherever they please.

That these tactics repay the Communist cause far more than the outlay is illustrated by the results. The English delegation produced a report which has been the chief mine of material for the British Labor Party's campaign to trade with Russia. The German representatives, who were given a reception second only to the ovation accorded the English, returned to their country with an account of conditions which is still being used effectively for the benefit of the Communist party there. And the Czecho-Slovakians, who came to Russia just before the recent parliamentary elections, went back and helped roll up more than a million red votes for the comrades.

Besides these delegations, the Austrians, Swedes, Norwegians and Danes have sent labor representatives and France and Belgium have sent parties of liberal and radical teachers to Russia this year. Of the chief European countries, only Italy has held aloof.

In spite of the curious diplomatic amity between the arch-enemy of communism and the leaders of the communist state, Mussolini has not yet permitted an Italian labor delegation to visit Russia.

Large Verdict.

BETHESDA, O., Jan. 14.—The largest verdict in the history of Belmont county courts in which George A. Lea & CO., of Rocky Mountain, N. C., received an award of $66,000 for tobacco purchased on behalf of A. Friedberg & Bro., of Pittsburgh, Pa., was announced today.

The verdict was based on the firm's claim for tobacco which the Pittsburgh concern failed to accept and which is in storage here.

HELP YOURSELF TO HEALTH

W. K. Kellogg

Eyes that betray

EYES with circles under them . . . eyes with spots before them . . . eyes that lack luster . . . eyes that betray the hateful, treacherous inroads of constipation—one of the worst diseases to afflict the human race. Fight it off before it drags you down into the valley of sickness and despair.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is the safest, surest way to permanent relief from dreadful constipation—and the most pleasant! Eat two tablespoonfuls daily—or in chronic cases, with every meal.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is what doctors call a bulk food. As it travels through the system, its fiber remains unchanged. Therefore, it sweeps the intestines clean and drives out the vicious poisons of constipation. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN also absorbs and carries moisture through the intestinal tract, stimulating it to healthy and normal action. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN works as nature works.

Its delightful nutty flavor makes it good as a cereal. Serve with milk or cream alone or with fresh or preserved fruit; sprinkle over cereals or cook with cereals; use in soups, or make into the many recipes given on the package. If eaten regularly, it is guaranteed to bring permanent relief, or your grocer refunds the purchase price.

Beware! Be sure to get Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Only ALL-BRAN brings sure relief. Doctors recommend it. Kellogg's is the original and only ALL-BRAN—a 100% bran product. Leading hotels and restaurants serve it. All grocers sell it. Buy a package today.
